Nearly 2,000 Heavy Bombers Raid Germany

By LEO S. DISHER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, March 1.—(BUP)—Almost 2,000 RAF Canadian and American heavy bombers dropped a great weight of explosives on a dozen rail and industrial centres in western Germany today.

On this 17th straight day of an unprecedented air offensive against the Reich, great fleets of Allied bombers and fighters totalling perhaps 3,000 planes ranged the enemy skies.

More than 1,000 Flying Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by about 450 Mustangs, attacked nine transport hubs in southwestern Germany.

The U.S. heavies sowed their bombs over a broad area. Their primary targets were Heilbronn, Neckarsulm, Bruchsal, Karlsruhe, Goppingen, Reutlingen, Ingolstadt, Ulm and Augsburg.

HIT NEW SECTION

The broadside of bombs was aimed at paralyzing a new section of the German transport system. Daily Allied raids in the last week have knocked crippling gaps in the Nazi rail network.

20 Below Zero Forecast Here

The month of March made its debut Thursday to the accompaniment of howling winds and drifting snow, and if there's any truth to the old weather adage "in like a lion, out like a lamb," Edmontonians have the comforting assurance of spring-like weather by the end of the month. However, immediate prospects are for 20 below zero weather Thursday night.

Winds averaging 22 miles an hour, with gusts up to 42 miles an hour, accompanied a drop in temperature to around the zero mark. Official forecast for this area is "fair and decidedly cold tonight, moderating somewhat tomorrow afternoon."

Maximum temperature Wednesday was 38 above zero and the minimum 1 below. The overnight low was zero and at 2 p.m. stood at the same mark. The estimated high for today is 12 above; estimated overnight low 20 below and the high for tomorrow 8 above.

Report Americans Land on Palawan

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
WASHINGTON, March 1.—(BUP)—Approximately 3,000 American troops were reported by Tokyo today to have landed on 275-mile-long Palawan island, westernmost of the Philippines. Palawan, if the enemy report is true, would be the 17th island in the Philippines invaded by American amphibious forces.

Nazi Rail Systems "Obstacle Courses"

LONDON, March 1.—(CP)—Apparently trying to explain to frontline troops why their mail was delayed, the German radio recorded by BBC said last night that transportation systems were disrupted by "the mere journey of a letter can be compared with an obstacle course."

Allies Threaten Goebbels' Home

WITH THE U. S. ARMORED FORCES IN GERMANY, March 1.—(Reuters)—Muenchen Gladbach, one objective of American forces in Germany, is the birthplace of Dr. Joseph Goebbels. He was educated there in a Jesuit school, and owns a castle in the town, gift of the citizens.

Nearing Lashio

KANDY, Ceylon, March 1.—(AP)—Chinese troops have driven to within 15 miles of Lashio, 130 miles north-east of Mandalay. An Allied communique announced today that Japanese resistance had collapsed in that sector.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(BUP)—President Roosevelt reported to the United States Congress today that the Crimea conference achieved "a good start on the road to a world of peace."

The time has come, he emphasized, when the United States can no longer avoid responsibility for political conditions in other parts of the world.

A little more than 24 hours after his return from the Big Three meeting at Yalta, the president went before a joint session of the house and senate and reported on the meeting. It was his first personal appearance before Congress since January, 1943.

He stressed that Great Britain, Russia and this country were agreed unanimously to press the war against Germany in full force "until unconditional surrender." He advised the German people and soldiers to realize that the sooner they surrender "the sooner their present agony will be over."

He stressed the importance of the United States concerning itself with the political problems of the rest of the world.

"We shall have to bear the responsibility for world collaboration," Continued on Page 3, Col. 3

Bracken Speaks One Hour Before Prime Minister

By CHESTER BLOOM
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, March 1.—The Ottawa Press Gallery Corps is remarking today on the strange juxtaposition of the stars which brought about the Progressive Conservative Association's big dinner at the Chateau Laurier with a speech by their leader, John Bracken, scheduled precisely one hour before Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King will be broadcasting Liberal government policy over the CBC chain.

The Progressive-Conservatives will sit down to eat at 7 p.m. then there will be some short preliminary hours by minor Tory orators with the big shot, Mr. Bracken, due to begin firing about 8 p.m.

At precisely 9 p.m., seated comfortably in CBC studio on the seventh floor of the Chateau, above the festive Tory diners (and guests) Mr. King will fling to the air statements of government policy and probably announce the date of opening the final session of parliament (expected about March 15th) but no election date.

ILL-TIMED HUMOR

Some of the more cynical of the press gallery scribes are suggesting that the day and hour chosen

Two Soldiers Killed Hunting Souvenirs

WINNIPEG, March 1.—(CP)—Two soldiers, hunting for souvenirs, were killed when a grenade exploded at A15 Canadian Infantry Training Centre, Shilo Camp, Man., military authorities announced here today. The dead, Pte. E. L. Emberly of Haywood, Man., and Pte. D. A. Hood of Hudson Bay Junction, Sask.

Nazi Ambassador Received by Pope

VATICAN CITY, March 1.—(AP)—Pope Pius XII today received Baron Ernst von Weizsaecker, German ambassador to the Holy See, in a 30-minute private audience.

50 Persons Killed In Pretoria Blast

PRETORIA, March 1.—(CP)—Fifty persons are believed to have been killed in South Africa's first big munitions disaster of the war—an explosion at an ammunition loading field two miles from Pretoria. At least 200 were injured.

It Says Here

by Bob Hope

HOLLYWOOD, March 1.—Since that midnight curfew was put on all night clubs, bars, and theatres by the Director of War Mobilization, Jimmie Byrnes, some of the night club owners are doing a little byrning too. But Byrnes isn't kidding. The order is to save fuel for war plans. He feels that an extra floor show isn't as important as an extra P-51. And all of the theatres have to be emptied by midnight. The managers have been working hard trying to figure out a scheme for getting the customers out of the theatres fast. Paramount has had hundreds of wires asking them to release some of my pictures. One Hollywood night club owner argues that the order shouldn't apply to California because it's so warm and mild here they don't ever need any heat. In fact, he got so excited arguing he had to take off his overcoat and ear-muffs. The only places that can stay open are ones that serve food exclusively. One bartender is planning on making a fortune. He just isn't planning on making a fortune. The fuel shortage in the east is really serious. Nowadays when a soldier throws away a cigarette the civilians don't dive for the butt, they just huddle around and warm their hands over it.

WARNS CONGRESS—In a gravely-worded warning against American return to isolationism, President Roosevelt today told Congress that the United States will have to take the responsibility for world collaboration "or we shall have to bear the responsibility for another world conflict."

Unanimous Confidence Vote Given Churchill on Decisions

LONDON, March 1.—(CP)—The House of Commons gave Prime Minister Churchill a unanimous vote of confidence tonight in support of the Big Three decisions at Yalta. The vote was 413 to 0.

The action came after three days of Britain's most important foreign policy debate since the war began, and constituted the first legislative endorsement of Big Three's Yalta decisions by one of the great powers.

Foreign Secretary Eden, indicating the extent of arrangements for Germany's downfall, advised the house that plans were ready for the control of the press and radio in Germany.

Alberta's Oil Production In 1944 Worth $14,468,061

Alberta's oil production during 1944 totalled 8,788,000 barrels valued at $14,468,061, it was announced in the Legislature Wednesday by Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, when he spoke in the throne speech debate.

Giving a general review of work accomplished by his department in the last year, the minister said that rentals and royalties from oil development contributed $1,137,504 to the provincial treasury during the first ten months of the fiscal year which ends March 31.

Mr. Tanner announced a new Mineral Tax act will be introduced at the present session, which will make it possible for the government to collect a larger revenue than heretofore from mineral rights alienated prior to the natural resources transfer agreement.

TO GET REVENUE

"Mineral rights under millions of acres of lands in the province were alienated prior to the transfer of natural resources from the Dominion to the province," the minister told the house. "We can collect no rentals or royalties from these. The government is determined to get some revenue from these mineral rights and from the production of the same."

Mr. Tanner said that "very definite interest in oil possibilities in the province" had been evidenced in the last two or three years. At the present time, approximately 3,500,000 acres are being explored in the search for oil by 66 active companies. In 1944, 64 prospecting reservations were granted, covering an area of 2,500,000 acres—a very active program in the search for oil.

Drilling progress in the Jumping Pound, Princess and Consort areas is being watched closely.

Marines Push Japanese Back To North Iwo

By FRANK TREMAINE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
GUAM, March 1.—(BUP)—Marines of the Third Division shoved desperately-resisting Japanese back into rocky northern Iwo today in a fighting advance to within a mile and a quarter of the north coast.

They already had encircled and captured the village of Motoyama, Iwo's administrative centre and largest town, and were within a few yards of an uncompleted third airfield on the tiny island only 750 miles south of Tokyo.

(Radio Tokyo said Japanese planes had made "violent attacks" today on a concentration of American warships in the vicinity of Iwo and the Bonin Islands, immediately north of Iwo.)

LIMITED GAINS

The Third Division gained 700 to 800 yards—the biggest day's advance since the island was captured.

HMS Vanguard Is Mightiest U.K. Battleship

By LOUIS WULFF

LONDON, March 1.—(Reuters)—HMS Vanguard is the name of Britain's newest and mightiest battleship.

This secret, which has been kept closely ever since Princess Elizabeth launched the ship at a Scottish shipyard on the Clyde last Nov. 30, was disclosed last night.

This dispatch gave no details of size or armaments but the largest British battleships recorded in Jane's fighting ships are those of the Lion class, with displacement of more than 40,000 tons, compared with 35,000 tons of the King George V class.

The Lion class was scheduled to include four ships. Only two, the Lion and the Temeraire, have been named.

Montreal Soldier Reported Beaten, Booted to Death

MONTREAL, March 1.—(CP)—Twenty minutes after Lionel Deslandes, 31, a soldier, was beaten and booted to death in a St. Lawrence boulevard restaurant last night, Francois Mederic, 27, was arrested by police in a "ponny arcade" a few blocks away and police said he would be charged as the killer.

Police said a pair of heavy, steel-shod, calf-length boots are held as evidence in the case.

Police said witnesses told of the two men quarrelling in the restaurant.

PARIS, March 1.—(AP)—The United States 9th Army captured the German citadel of Muenchen Gladbach today as other American forces broke into ancient Trier and plunged through the outer defences of Cologne.

Muenchen Gladbach, industrial centre of 127,000 population, was the first city in the Ruhr to fall to an Allied army. It was 11 miles west of the Rhine bridge at Dueseldorf.

Ninth Army troops drove into the heart of this "Manchester of Germany" from the south as converging columns flanking it on the east and west sealed the fate of the largest German city to fall into American hands.

Men of the 29th Division who marched afoot more than 20 miles without armored support entered the outskirts after light skirmishing with a German rear-guard of infantry and self-propelled guns.

By BOYD D. LEWIS
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, March 1.—(BUP)—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's American Third Army troops broke into the ancient German stronghold of Trier today in a powerful flanking sweep down the Moselle valley on the southwestern road to Coblenz and the Rhine.

Patton's breakthrough into the Moselle invasion valley came as armored and infantry divisions of the U.S. First Army wedged a mile or more into the Germans' last-ditch defences barely five miles from Cologne.

Cologne itself was under heavy American shellfire, centred on the highway crossings, railway yards and dumps in the city.

Front reports said furious enemy artillery fire had temporarily stalled Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's Canadian and United Kingdom armored and infantry columns, battling for a new breakthrough to link up with Lt. Gen. William Simpson's Ninth Army, pushing up from the southwest under a rigid security blackout.

Field dispatches said tanks and infantrymen of one armored division charged into the eastern outskirts of Trier today under point-blank fire from German artillery and anti-aircraft batteries.

Only a relatively small garrison was believed left in Trier, which already had been outflanked by other Third Army columns driving in from the Moselle from the northwest, and the fall of the city appeared imminent.

BIG ROAD CENTRE

Trier, probably the oldest city in Germany, is the biggest German communications centre in that area and the gateway to Coblenz and the Rhine, 38 miles to the northwest.

Far to the north, the American Ninth Army continued its power.

CLAIM BRITISH WARSHIPS MASS AT AKYAB PORT

By British United Press
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Tokyo radio reported last night that British warships were massed at Akyab, Burma west coast port, indicating new blows against Japan may be pending.

The broadcast, heard by British United Press in San Francisco, also said the American 14th Air Force in China was being greatly strengthened and was expected "to reach huge proportions."

Army Casualties 2,058 in January

OTTAWA, March 1.—(CP)—The Canadian army suffered 2,058 casualties in January—second lowest monthly total since D-Day, June 6—defence headquarters disclosed today in a statement. Canada's total casualties for the three services since war started to Jan. 31, 1945, were given as 87,609.

Navy dead increased 161 in January but the overall war total of 2,068 was 98 less than the Dec. 31 war total, presumably the result of a reclassification in the wounded and missing, prisoner and interned columns. The RCAF had a casualty total of 640 in January, biggest since September when the service suffered 775 casualties.

Budget Expected During Next Week

The provincial budget for the 1945-46 fiscal year will be brought down in the Legislature before the end of next week, it was learned Thursday from Premier Ernest Manning, provincial treasurer.

The budget will be introduced immediately after conclusion of the debate on the Speech from the Throne now before the house. It is expected the throne debate will continue for another week.

Twelve members had taken part in the debate up to Wednesday, with another four scheduled to speak Thursday.

The budget address is expected to reveal results of refunding discussions carried on by Premier Manning and high treasury officials in the last year. It was announced in the Speech from the Throne that refunding proposals would be discussed at the present session.

The premier indicated some time ago that the budget address would be the likely means of laying the refunding situation before members of the assembly.

American Units Drive Way Into Trier Fortress

drive on the road to Dusseldorf and the Ruhr basin against stiffening of a still unco-ordinated German opposition.

Headquarters said the Ninth Army hammered out a general advance all along its front in the past 24 hours but the exact location of 14. Gen. William Simpson's spearheads—which 60 hours ago had outflanked Muenchen Gladbach and driven within 11 miles south west of Dusseldorf—was hidden by a rigid security blackout.

CONCEALS "GOOD NEWS"

Spokesmen at supreme headquarters said the blackout was concealing only "good news" and that the Ninth Army had not been halted. Despite the arrival of the German reserves on the imperilled front.

Vanguards of two U.S. First Army infantry divisions, along with an unidentified armored force, were driving in at Cologne on a six-mile front after advancing as much as a mile from their three-mile bridgeheads across the Erft river.

Ninth Army troops were reported on the outskirts of the big factory city and the adjoining town of Rheydt. Still other Ninth Army columns were pounding up toward Dusseldorf, 12 miles east of Muenchen-Gladbach. The Ninth Army vanguard were barely 12 miles southwest of Dusseldorf when the blackout was imposed and their artillery was reported reaching out to pound the big arsenal city on the Rhine.

NAZI TANK RESERVES

Fresh German tank reserves, rushed down from the Rhine-Meuse corridor to the north, slowed but failed to halt the Ninth Army drive. Heavily-censored field dispatches said 12 unidentified towns were captured by the Americans yesterday.

On the Cologne front, spearheads of three American First Army Divisions were across the Erft River in force at three or more points and slugging their way through suddenly hardened German opposition on high ground about a mile east of the river.

ROOT OUT ENEMY

Fighting on foot and from the turrets of tanks, Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' men rooted a strong German force from the cellars and pillboxes of Modrath, 6½ miles west of Cologne, and by this morning had cleared all but the eastern edge of the town.

Unconfirmed reports said 100,000 German civilians and slave workers were working feverishly to throw up a screen of fortifications in the western suburbs of Cologne in preparation for a house-to-house defence of the Cathedral City and its vital Rhine crossings.

At the northern end of the Allied front, the Canadian First Army inched slowly forward south of captured Calcar and Uedem against fierce opposition. Crerar's troops already had breached the main Siegfried line defences covering the northwestern flank of the Ruhr valley and were barely 25 miles from a junction with the U.S. Ninth Army, but the Nazis were fighting hard from a makeshift chain of field fortifications thrown across the Rhine-Meuse corridor.

PUSH FORWARD

Frontline dispatches said that United Kingdom units pushed forward about 500 yards along the Weeze and Uedem roads last night but an attack on the stronghold of Kervenheim failed to shake fiercely resisting Nazis.

Before Cologne, Hodges' First Army spearheads apparently were still probing the city's outer defences this morning, awaiting the arrival of their main armored forces before launching a full-out attack.

THIRD CROSSING

The Americans were across the Erft in considerable numbers at a third point, apparently farther north around Bergheim, on the Juulich-Cologne highway 10½ miles west of Cologne and six miles above Muenchen.

It was evident that the Germans had rallied in the Ninth Army sector, but it was doubtful that they could juggle their remaining forces sufficiently to compensate for their terrible losses of the past week.

More than 6,500 Germans were captured by the Allies yesterday, running the enemy's losses in prisoners for the past week to well over 30,000.

The total bag of prisoners taken by the Canadian First Army since Crerar's offensive started rose to nearly 16,000.

Heaviest fighting was reported centring around Muenchen-Gladbach and some Ninth Army units were believed to have reached the outskirts of that town and the companion fortress of Rheydt, while other armored elements outflanked the cities to the northwest and east.

U.S. Fighter Planes Guarded Big Three

ROME, March 1.—(Reuters)—United States fighter planes guarded every move made by the principals going on returning to the "Big Three" conference at Yalta, it was disclosed here last night. This secret, highly-complicated operation provided escort for 16,000 miles over three continents. In spite of some adverse weather, every rendezvous was made to schedule and not one pilot was lost.

FUNNY BUSINESS—"He plays safe and carries his own hat rack."

Political Picture Confuses Soldiers

LONDON, March 1.—(CP)—A three-man Canadian Congress of Labor delegation in a statement last night, following a week's visit with the 1st Canadian Army in Belgium and Holland, said Canadian soldiers "are much confused" about the Canadian political situation and that "their current thinking is concentrated on whether jobs will be awaiting them when they return to Canada."

The three, Pat Conroy and James Maquire of Ottawa, and Charles Millard of Toronto, made the cross-channel trip after attending an international labor conference here and will return to Canada after a visit to several points in Britain. All places of the 1st Canadian Army's activities were visited with the exception of the actual fighting zone in Germany.

The statement said the outstanding impression of the delegation was the harmonious relations existing between Canadian officers and men with the added intelligence of the army's leadership. "So far as circumstances permit," they said, "Provision for the men's welfare is excellent and in this respect medical attention rates very highly. Canadians in hospital seemed highly pleased with the care and facilities provided."

German Patrols Cross Senio River

ROME, March 1.—(AP)—German raiding parties, striking across the Senio river south of the Russi-Lugo road, about 17 miles inland from the Adriatic coast, have driven 8th Army troops from some of their positions. Allied headquarters announced today.

Allied forces promptly counter-attacked and took a number of prisoners, but part of the German forces still remain on the east bank of the stream.

Two other strong enemy fighting patrols stabbed across the Senio immediately south of the main Faenza-Bologna highway at night and attacked 8th Army strongpoints, but were driven back. It was in the Senio sector that Canadian troops of the 8th Army were last reported in action.

Numerous other clashes occurred on the 8th Army front, but the 5th Army sector remained fairly quiet.

Allied war planes flew more than 1,900 sorties yesterday, most of them aimed at completing destruction of the enemy's escape route through the Brenner Pass.

Pattullo Demands Govt., CCF State Taxation Stands

VICTORIA, March 1.—(CP)—Former premier T. D. Pattullo (Ind.-Lib.—Prince Rupert) said yesterday it was the duty of the coalition government and the CCF opposition to state clearly their stands on taxation with relation to a future Dominion - provincial conference. Speaking in the budget debate, Mr. Pattullo recalled his stand at the Dominion-Provincial parley of 1941 that the conferees discuss questions of mutual interest and said he asked the Dominion not to insist on discussion of the "refugee plan" of the Sirois report. The plan would have made the income and corporation taxes and succession duties exclusive to the federal government.

Ask Air Policy

HAMILTON, Ont., March 1.—(CP)—The first all-Ontario air conference yesterday called on the Canadian government to announce at the earliest possible opportunity its post-war civil aviation policy, particularly as to use of existing airport facilities and plans for new facilities.

As Canadians Advance German Countryside Shows Mark of War

By DOUGLAS AMARON

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN GERMANY, March 1.—(CP)—Overcoming German resistance to the advance of the 1st Canadian Army through rolling farmlands between the Maas and Rhine rivers is scorching the German countryside as surely as if the enemy were destroying his own villages, his own cattle, his own crops.

many might lose part of her land in Holland as compensation for German devastation.

"If it is necessary to take some German soil to make it up to the entirely innocent Dutch people who have seen their land destroyed, I shall not complain," he declared as the house moved toward a vote of confidence demanded by Prime Minister Churchill to place Britain squarely behind the Big Three decisions at Yalta.

"Or if it is necessary to clear certain areas in order to enable the Polish people to lead a full free life, I shall not complain and I don't think the Germans have the right to complain."

QUESTIONS STAND
Turning to Poland, Mr. Attlee said he had great admiration for their qualities as a people but "I cannot say that political wisdom is their outstanding quality."

"I have pleaded with my Polish friends . . . I have seen chance after chance lost. I have seen the position getting worse and worse. I have begged them to remember that they are placed in the world as neighbors of Russia."

He asserted the Poles "harp back" too much to the past and said the "Big Three" at Yalta had to settle two questions: How to win the war and how to win the peace.

"Those things," Mr. Attlee said, "are much more important than the past."

NEED SEVERE TREATY
Prime Minister Churchill said Tuesday that most of the Poles, Danes and Ukrainians would go to Poland and he declared himself in favor of shifting populations if necessary.

Earlier, Sir Arthur Salter, outstanding economic and governmental expert, told the house that safeguards against future German aggression "will need a treaty which will be severe by comparison with the much-abused treaty of Versailles."

Sir Arthur declared: "I do not accept the idea that a just peace is one which treats the country which started the world war exactly as if she had not done so, and encourages a would-be aggressor to gamble on the hypothesis of heads I win and tails I do not lose."

ALLIES' MISTAKE
The Allies after the last war "made the mistake then not of taking too much from Germany but of taking it in the wrong form," said Sir Arthur, who was general secretary of the reparations commission in 1920. He endorsed the Crimea proposal for reparations "in kind."

He contended that as a result of the war was "quite clearly the victors' responsibility," and could not be transferred to a proposed world security league.

Coming to grips with the question of whether Britain would have equal post-war status with Russia and the United States, Sir Arthur said "if we mean that our leg of the tripod is to be merely this little island the answer is 'no,' but if we mean the Commonwealth of Nations the answer is 'perhaps we can be.'"

BURDEN OF DEFENCE
He maintained that Britain had had to bear too much of the burden of defence of her Empire before the war and added that a united British Empire would enable Britain to maintain equality with the other two great Allied powers.

LL-Col. Sir Arthur Heneghan, member of the inter-Allied control commission in Germany after the last war, argued that it was "absolutely essential" to allow financial aid to accompany the officers and men assigned to control Germany after the victory in order to decrease fraternal rivalry.

Use Frozen Spud To Break Window
Police are investigating a charge against a 17-year-old boy of damaging a large window in the home of a Miss Messerschmidt, 12337 128 street between 7 and 8 p.m. Wednesday. The boy allegedly hurled a frozen potato through the glass. In another section of the city, a housewife complained that junior hockey players annoyed her by knocking at her doors with hockey sticks.

Chinese Airman Rescues Sister
LONDON, Ont., March 1.—(CP)—Capt. Albert Mah of the RCAF was in London yesterday on a few days leave after rescuing his 13-year-old sister, Canadian-born Bernice Mah, from starving occupied China. He is scheduled to return to his Air Force before going to the Pacific. He is scheduled to return flying supplies into China when leave is up.

Hotel Burns
GUELPH, Ont., March 1.—(CP)—The New Ellington hotel was burning early today and firemen pulled about one-third of the building gutted in the flames which started in the south end of the building. Fire reports did not indicate anybody had been injured.

This march on the Rhine follows a destructive course. Kleeve, Goch, Calcar, Uedem and lesser villages in the path of the advance since Feb. 8, can be written off as habitable communities, for bombs, shells, mortars, and small-arms fire have razed their buildings, torn up their streets, wrecked their public services.

Farmhouses along the dirt roads linking the town are in equally bad shape. The Germans converted them into strongpoints and our artillery smashed them to pulp with countless shells.

TREMENDOUS FIRE
The Canadian artillery fire recently has been tremendous. In some places scarcely an arm's length separates craters. Rich in livestock before the attack began, the countryside now is a graveyard for hundreds of cows, pigs, sheep, horses and poultry.

Redem, where organized resistance ended Tuesday, escaped the heavy bombing which smashed Kleeve and Goch on the eve of the 1st Canadian Army offensive, but it has been pounded by medium bombers and fighter-bombers and deluged with shells. Many houses are still standing but they lack fronts, sides or roofs.

Edem's defenders were chiefly paratroopers and Maj. R. D. Hodgkin of Preston, Ont., said "about 90 per cent of them would die in the holes rather than give up." The battalion took only between 30 and 40 prisoners.

FIGHTING CONFUSED
Fighting was confused. In one incident a German paratrooper appeared from nowhere and fired at Mr. Bill Roelofson of Galt, Ont., Mayor of Vancouver, spotted him a killed him with a burst from a gun. The major now has a German's Luger pistol.

New Possibilities Post-War Flying
By FRASER MACDOUGALL
MONTREAL, Ont., March 1.—(CP)—The popularity of post-war flying will grow in direct proportion to the safety and safety to general regulations," S. Graham, superintendent of air regulations, federal department of transport, said yesterday in an address to the Lario air conference.

Mr. Graham spoke after Geroux (Gerry) Moes of Hamilton viewed the prospects for pilot-training by civilian flying clubs after the war.

A. R. Burchall, executive secretary of the Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada, predicted that because of vast distances in the Dominion "an increase in air travel above the normal of small countries with the me population can reasonably be expected."

Regulation of air traffic was as important as highway traffic regulations, said Mr. Graham. In the future, it was probable that a mechanical standard in privately registered aircraft would be required.

Soldiers Incensed By Bracken Stand On Reinforcements
TORONTO, March 1.—(CP)—C. S. Jackson, Canadian president of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (CIUO), returned yesterday from a tour of Europe where war zones and said he did not hear one single gripe from officers or men about the calibre quality of reinforcements.

One of a group of labor leaders who toured the war zones, Mr. Jackson said soldiers he met were "indefatigably" to allow financial aid to accompany the officers and men assigned to control Germany after the victory in order to decrease fraternal rivalry.

Roosevelt Says U.S. Must Keep World Contacts

or we shall have to bear the responsibility for another world conflict," he said.

He reported "unanimous agreement" on "every point" of military and "vital political" problems before the Big Three at Yalta.

POLITICAL PROBLEMS
1.—The occupation and control of Germany after victory, the complete destruction of her military power, and assurance that Nazism and Prussian militarism will be ended for all time.

2.—The settlement of the "few differences which remained among us" regarding the international security organization.

3.—General political and economic problems common to all of the areas liberated from the Nazis.

4.—Special problems created by Poland and Yugoslavia.

Speaking from the well of the house chamber, the president said that in previous conferences—particularly the Tehran meeting late in 1943—no "political" agreements were made. But at Yalta "the time had come for getting down to specific cases in the political field."

BEST POSSIBLE PLAN
He frankly described the Big Three decision on the boundaries of Poland as "a compromise." But he said he was convinced that "under the circumstances" it was "the most hopeful agreement possible for a free, independent and prosperous Polish state."

The agreement would give Russia about one-third of pre-war Polish territory. Poland would receive German territory in the west, in compensation.

Roosevelt emphasized that "quite naturally" the Crimea conference did not deal with the Pacific war, but that the combined British and American staffs at Malta "made their plans to increase the attack against Japan."

MUST CRUSH JAPAN
The "unconditional surrender of Japan is as essential as the defeat of Germany if our plans for world peace are to succeed," he said.

"The defeat of Germany will not mean the end of the war against Japan," he said. "On the contrary, America must be prepared for a long and costly struggle in the Pacific."

Looking to the San Francisco meeting as a keystone of future world peace, Roosevelt said "this time we shall not make the mistake of waiting until the end of the war to set up the machinery of peace. This time, as we fight together to get the war over quickly, we must work together to keep it from happening again."

TO ADVISE CONGRESS
He was "well aware of the constitutional fact" that the charter developed at San Francisco, as well as "some of the other arrangements made at Yalta," will require Senate ratification. He assured the House and Senate that they would be kept constantly informed of the government's program and reminded them that the congressional delegates to the San Francisco conference included equal Republican and Democratic representation.

"World peace is not a party question any more than is military victory," he said. "The structure of world peace cannot be the work of one man, or one party, or one nation. It cannot be a peace of large nations or of small nations. It must be a peace which rests on the co-operative effort of the whole world."

The President said one of the accomplishments at Yalta was closer tactical liaison between Russia, British and American forces fighting in Europe.

THREE-WAY LIAISON
He gave the first details of this new close co-operation, saying provision was made for daily exchange of information between the Allied forces on the western front, the Allied armies in Italy and the Soviet armies on the eastern front "without the necessity of going through the chief of staffs in Washington and London as in the past."

He said arrangements also had been made for most effective distribution of all available material and transportation to places "where they can best be used in the combined war effort—American, British, and Russian."

He elaborated at length on the meaning of unconditional surrender of Germany. The German people must realize the necessity of accepting it as the primary requisite

What Discussed in Egypt?

President Roosevelt, Churchill "Unco-ordinated" on One Point

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, apostles of unity, found themselves unco-ordinated yesterday on one point.

What did they talk about at their mid-February meeting in Egypt?

Mr. Roosevelt told a news conference on the cruiser that brought him back to Washington that Japan wasn't mentioned.

Mr. Churchill told the House of Commons Tuesday:

"I myself took leave of the president on the 15th of this month in Alexandria harbor after long and most agreeable talks about the state of our affairs in the light of the Crimea conference, and also a talk about our special business in the Far East, in which, as the Japanese are aware, we both take some interest."

Mr. Roosevelt's White House staff found itself lined up with the prime minister. It had issued a release Feb. 20 which said the Alexandria meeting "permitted new and important discussions" having to do with Japan and the war in the Pacific.

Corregidor Conquest Is Virtually Complete

By H. D. QUIGG

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MANILA, March 1.—(BUP)—Virtually complete conquest of Corregidor opened Manila's great bay today for Allied shipping and a steady stream of supplies to American troops on Luzon.

(A Tokyo broadcast said that approximately 3,000 American troops landed on Palawan island, westernmost of the Philippines, Wednesday morning, Japanese time.)

U.S. paratroopers and infantrymen overwhelmed the entire enemy garrison on Corregidor, killing Japanese at a rate of more than 30 to 1.

The 12-day campaign to retake the rocky fortress, which unlocked Manila's 1,000 square mile bay, was one of the most heroic and skillful operations of the Pacific war.

of their re-establishment as a people "whom the world might accept as decent neighbors."

TO CONTROL GERMANY
He said this did not mean the destruction or enslavement of the German people, but it did mean "temporary control of Germany" by Great Britain, Russia, France and the United States.

It also means the ending of Nazism, the Nazi party, and all militaristic influence; it means punishment for war criminals; Germany's complete disarmament and the permanent dismemberment of the German general staff "which has so often shattered the peace of the world."

"By compelling reparations in kind—in plants, in machinery and rolling stock and raw materials—we shall avoid the mistake made after the last war of demanding reparations in the form of money which Germany could never pay."

WILL BE COMPROMISE
He explained that "final decisions in the liberated areas are going to be made jointly and therefore will often be 'a result of give-and-take compromise.'"

"The United States will not always have its way 100 per cent—nor will Russia or Great Britain."

Winding up his review of the conference, the president said he thought it spelled the end "of the system of unilateral action and exclusive alliances and spheres of influence and balances of power and all the other expedients which have been tried for centuries and have failed."

By The Associated Press
The president began his address in a light vein. After saying he came back refreshed and inspired despite the long journey, he added:

"The Roosevelts are not, as you may suspect, averse to travel. We thrive on it!"

He said the two main purposes at the conference "the first to defeat Germany with the greatest possible speed and the smallest possible loss of Allied lives and the second to continue to build for lasting peace."

As to the first purpose, he said that now is being carried out in great force. As to the second "a tremendous stride was made."

"MILITARY SECRETS"
Referring to some agreements reached at Yalta as "military secrets," he said the Germans are learning about some of them already "to their sorrow," and they will learn "more about them tomorrow and the next day—and every day."

On the way back from the Mediterranean Mr. Roosevelt told reporters the Yalta conferences had produced some secret understandings—necessarily secret, he called them—which would become apparent in time.

In his speech to congress the President said the Big Three had agreed on voting procedure in the proposed world security council—a point not settled at Dumbarton Oaks, and added:

"It is not yet possible to announce the terms of that agreement publicly, but it will be in a very short time."

ROLE OF FRANCE
Although France was not represented at the conference, the President said "no one should detract from the recognition there accorded of her role in the future of Europe and the world."

He pointed out that France has been invited to accept a zone of control in Germany, to join as a sponsor of the United Nations conference, that she will have a permanent member on the International Security Council with the other four major powers, and she will be associated in the joint responsibility over liberated areas.

Disorganization In Reich Slows Flow of Parcels

LONDON, March 1.—(CP)—War

Minister Sir James Grigg informed the House of Commons yesterday that the disorganization in Germany has reached a point where transport facilities for Red Cross parcels of war supplies through Switzerland into the Reich "have been seriously reduced."

Negotiations are under way to remedy the situation.

"While everyone will welcome this disorganization so far as Germany's war effort is concerned," he said, "it has created increasing anxiety for the welfare of British Commonwealth and other Allied prisoners."

REJECT AIR SUPPLY

Supply of food to prisoners from the air had been considered but rejected for the present as impracticable but an international Red Cross official now was in Berlin or en route there to seek permission for convoys of motor trucks to enter Germany with supplies since rail transportation was impossible.

"Representatives of a protecting power are doing all they can to secure improvement and their efforts have not been without some result," Sir James said.

He said aerial supply would certainly be used if it became feasible in addition to trucks. In Switzerland arrangements were being made for the purchase of trucks in Sweden which could enter Germany and be used to transport supplies from Lubbeck to prison camps in northern Germany. One hundred trucks already were available.

Amazing Incident Prisoner-of-War Camp Is Built Around Nazis

By ROSS MUNRO

UEDEM, Germany, March 1.—(CP)—Five of the most surprised Germans on the western front probably were the quietest captured inside a Canadian prisoner-of-war compound yesterday and L.-Col. L. D. Cameron of Prince Albert, Sask., who captured them single-handed, was just as amazed.

Cameron, a member of the Canadian Provost Corps, was detailed to prepare a prisoner of war compound just behind the front line. He chose an area around a wrecked house beside which lay a dead German non-commissioned officer.

"I was getting the prisoner cage ready when I heard someone talking," he said. "Our in-fantasy had gone past and there was no one within a half-mile of me. I looked towards the house and there was a Jerry with his head and shoulders out of a hole beside the house. I hadn't noticed it before because the dead Hun's body was practically over it."

The Jerry in the hole grinned foolishly at me and I told him to come out. He came followed by four others, the last one with an automatic weapon in his hands. I only had a revolver and nearly passed out. But they surrendered without a fight. They were hiding in the cellar of the house with the hole entrance to the cellar. I just kept them there and we built the rest of the prisoner cage around them."

William Gilbert in 1900 set the foundation for the discovery of radium when he conceived of the earth as a great magnet with magnetic poles and a field of force about it.

THE MIRACLE OF WARTIME PRODUCTION IN ALBERTA

1,795,803,000 BUSHELS OF

GRAIN

1939 TO 1945

Nearly TWO BILLION bushels of grain . . . this, in addition to substantial increases in other agricultural products, is another outstanding achievement credited to Alberta Farmers. In maintaining a steady level of grain production since 1939, our farmers have persevered, in the face of labor shortages and the restricted implement replacement supply, to accomplish yet another miracle in the Nation's contribution to victory. With this partnership of a progressive industrious people with Alberta's fertile soil and abundant growth-stimulating sunshine, we can well look to the future of agriculture with renewed faith and confidence . . . confidence in a postwar period when new improved methods and new efficiency with mechanized aids will open up new fields for expansion . . . new opportunities for our returning sons.

Free copies of a booklet containing the entire series of informative details on Alberta's Wartime Production may be obtained at the conclusion of the schedule. Please send in your name to Calgary Brewing & Malting Co. Ltd., Calgary.

A Good Appointment

Mr. Thomas Miller, publisher of the Moose Jaw Times, has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan.
In extending compliments to the new appointee, congratulations may also be tendered to the people of the province on the excellent choice thus made.

Mr. Miller is among the surviving pioneer newspaper publishers of the west, a man of high character, has lived in Saskatchewan from young manhood, and knows the people and the province intimately.
By experience, training and temperament he is splendidly qualified to discharge the functions and uphold the traditions of the high office to which he has been called.

Home to Stay

Of two thousand soldiers who have returned to Canada on rotation-leave from overseas, only 53 have been sent back, and these wanted to go back and be in at the finish. The others have been posted in Canada, and will pass along the knowledge they gained in battle experience to men in training.

With plenty of men available for reinforcements there is no need to depart from this policy of making rotation-leave permanent, so far as overseas service is concerned, and circumstances are not likely to arise which would make this impossible without scaling down the strength of our forces at the front. Except where personal preference or special qualifications are involved, it is to be assumed that future rotation-men will also come home to stay.

So long as the "change out" is made gradually, so that the great majority of the men in the fighting lines are experienced, the quality of our army overseas should not suffer by the infusion of replacements. That the men in training will benefit greatly by association with the returned veterans is obvious.

This Is Canada

We learn from the news columns that the Ukrainian Canadian Association, in a meeting in Edmonton, has formulated a sizzling charge against the Canadian Ukrainian Committee. The former alleges that the latter is engaged in an intrigue
"to undermine the firm alliance of our country with the USSR".

This charge may or may not be true.
It is common knowledge, however, that a small number of Ukrainian patriots in this country before the war were carrying on a rather absurd flirtation with Hitler in an effort to flatter that person into freeing their homeland from the clutches of Russia.

Some of this same unreasoning hatred towards Russia may persist in some quarters and Ukrainians or any other Canadians who have knowledge of subversive activities stemming from this passion do quite right in reporting their information to the proper authorities.

But this present situation seems to have developed somewhat beyond the point of giving evidence against subversion. It looks very much like a stand-up-and-knock-down fight between two Ukrainian factions which have a greater interest in the welfare of the Ukraine than in keeping Canada free of racial strife.

Most young Canadians of Ukrainian extraction have forgotten the woes and sorrows of their motherland in an effort to become unhyphenated citizens of this country. There are, however, a few who still look backward with unwholesome interest to the land they have voluntarily left.

It might be well for all of us to bear in mind that this is not a transplanted Ukraine or a transplanted England or a transplanted France or a transplanted anything else—but just Canada. And that the bulk of the citizenry does not propose to have this Canada turned into a battlefield for any nostalgic factions.

The Second Black-Out

The partial black-out that has been clamped down on the western front is of course intended to keep Marshal Rundstedt from finding out what exactly is happening to his disjointed forces in the Rhineland. It recalls the former occasion when the curfew was dropped to obscure the proceedings in that theatre, and from the Marshal's standpoint the inference is bad.

When the former ban was lifted it was disclosed that 220,000 of the spearhead army which had been thrust into the Ar-denne would not be returning to the Siegfried defences from which they emerged.
The enemy commander is left to wonder how many of his troops caught in pockets by the swift Allied advance have any chance to escape; and just where and how rapidly that advance is proceeding in detail.

Readers in Allied countries are also wondering, with interest as keen, but with confidence instead of misgivings. They have reason to expect that when the censorship is relaxed there will be more good news coming to them.

When silence was imposed, the Canadians and British 2nd Army appeared to be headed for Wesel, the American 9th Army for Dusseldorf, the American 1st Army for Cologne, and General Patton's 3rd
Army for Coblenz or Mainz.

If any of these objectives are gained and held, the others will be flanked. If all of them are gained, the whole Siegfried defence system will have been won, and the Rhine will be the remaining enemy barrier on the west, as the Oder is on the east.

Herr Hitler is said to have paid men 25 cents a day to build the highways he designed for the invasion of France.
Pictures of those roads, now being used by the Allies, seem to show that the Fuehrer didn't get value for the money.

Of five western Canadians who have been awarded decorations by President Roosevelt, three are Alberta men. Maybe that is only coincidence; men from other provinces might have done as well if they had the chance. But it didn't "just happen" that these men earned the honors when the chance came their way.

Ski troops are leading a new Allied drive toward Bologna. This won't arouse the interest, nor inspire the sarcasm, it would have caused before our military operations blew up the tradition that "sunny" Italy was a land especially designed by nature as a winter resort for people who do not like winter. Now it only confirms the testimony of thousands of Allied soldiers that almost any other country is a better choice.

Fires started by Sunday's bomber raid on Tokyo burned through 240 city blocks in the industrial district. The Japs, like their partners in Europe, made the mistake of not isolating their munitions plants. Instead, these are located in great centres of population, except where the need of a large area made it necessary to build a factory in open country. It is inevitable that when city plants are bombed fires sweep over wide areas and civilians are killed, injured and left homeless.

Handbags Have to Be Large

They're the Movable Base
Of Supplies to Meet Any Situation

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

Men in general and husbands in particular are always making remarks about a woman's handbag. But we don't have the pockets that they do so by necessity we must have one large container for everything.

When my husband gets a suit ready for the cleaners and puts the contents of his pockets on the bed, I stand in amazement at the weird and wonderful assortment brought forth. And a woman's handbag would really have to go some to accommodate more.

But a woman without her handbag is as lost as a wanderer in the desert. The handbag is the movable base of her supplies—the depot of her expected needs and of her eventual unexpected needs. And these eventual needs may reach out to a degree far beyond any man's power of imagination.

A woman's handbag is a mysterious dungeon. It is the key to her real self, the prosaic answer to many poetic conceptions.

The ever popular magician does not want to explain his tricks. Likewise there is an aura of taboo about a closed handbag. Every woman has an uneasy look if somebody glances into his sacred privacy.

Someone said that the mark of a gentleman is the one who always tactfully stares at the ceiling whenever his companion opens her bag. And I would say that he will have to concentrate on that ceiling pretty often.

Typical Contents

The typical handbag of a typical woman contains a certain number of fundamental things—plus her own individual touch. And it is that individual touch that fills the bag. Some item is pretty sure to roll out the moment the bag is opened.

In the average handbag you will find: Cosmetics, including a compact that does not stay closed; paper handkerchiefs; a fresh handkerchief and several crumpled ones; a few letters, a package of cigarettes and several packs of matches.

all from different places; all ration books, including the expired ones; a fountain pen or pencil; or both; and often the pen is without ink and the pencil point broken or if it is the other kind it is without leads; letters of all kinds and sizes including monthly statements; and almost every purse contains several cards with addresses for a furrier, or a beauty parlor, or a wonderful char, or just a telephone number and no name; and last but not least a National Registration card, which is usually tucked into the wallet or coin purse.

Every woman's handbag is a lost and found department in itself. It is strange, but things actually disappear there, as by magic. They finally reappear on the surface after three or four investigations and complete pell-mell of the contents.

Every man knows about the two-minute drama, ever repeated: "Heavens! I must have lost my watch... (or my twenty-dollar bill, my keys, that important letter, etc., etc.)"

Pockets Instead

It is a fact that women are usually accused of their handbag delving. Nothing gives a man more self-satisfaction than such an experience. The whole myth of the superiority of men is built on the fact that a man never carries a handbag. A man carries everything in his numerous, comfortably deep pockets. It is estimated that a man wearing a suit with a vest and an overcoat has twenty pockets. No wonder he can never lose anything!

Women have also adapted pockets to their suits and coats. But the most genuine are just fit to put hands into. The others are good enough for a whiskey handkerchief to peep out of or they are faked. No woman's suit pocket is meant to hold her belongings. Every bulge would endanger the slim line and the smart effect. So women continue to carry handbags.

Money is the thing you will miss most frequently in a woman's handbag. Nowadays it is hardly worth carrying in a pocket. It is worth noting, except for the fact that an astonishing number of women carry their precious belongings in handbags.

Housing "Up to the Nation"

By GEORGE E. CREED

It is encouraging to note the increasing attention which is being given to the serious housing problem in Canada.

Recognizing that high interest rates have been one of the greatest factors in discouraging home building, the government has passed the new National Housing Act to make money available at lower cost.

The provisions of this act were summarized in the February 10th issue of the Toronto Star Weekly, as follows:

"The advantage of the government scheme is that the home builder gets a large loan at a low rate of interest. This is accomplished by the government providing one-quarter of the loan at 3 per cent, and a private lending institution the rest of it at 5 per cent, resulting in an overall rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

"At this rate of interest the borrower may obtain 95 per cent of the first $2,000 of appraised value of house and lot, plus 85 per cent of the second $2,000, plus 70 per cent of everything over $4,000. This works out at 50 per cent on a $2,500 property, 60 per cent on a $4,000 property, 80 per cent on a $5,000 property, and so on. But all these are percentages of appraised value, which is likely, under present conditions, to be less than actual cost. If, for example, a property is to cost $4,500, but is appraised at only $4,000, the loan will be only 90 per cent of $4,000, or $3,600, and the home builder will have to put up $900 in either cash or site, or both.

The $3,600 is repayable at $22.58 per month for 20 years, plus one-twelfth of a year's taxes monthly.

"It was announced the other day that for the present, there are to be limits on the value of the projects added: $6,000 for a property with one or two bedrooms, $7,000 with three bedrooms, and $8,000 with four or more bedrooms. This means that there will be no more luxury homes built under the act until more material and labor are available."

All of this is certainly a step in the right direction but it leaves the root of the trouble untouched. Knocking half of one per cent off the interest rate is no real solution to the problem. The basic issue is this: money for housing to be made available to the people through the Bank of Canada, at no interest except a service charge to cover the actual cost of handling the money, or must the people continue to borrow from private money-lenders, at high interest rates? How much longer are money-lenders profits to have first and foremost place, above every consideration of human need?

As an indication of how little it really does cost to handle money in large quantities, it is worth noting that although the average cost of government borrowings is now 2 1/2 per cent, the government proposes, under the new National Housing Act, to re-lend the money at only 3 per cent. That is, a margin of about one-third of one per cent, is considered to be sufficient to cover the entire cost of handling the money.

Series of Peace Conferences

Post-War World Cannot Emerge From Single Blueprint

DOROTHY THOMPSON

Anxiety about the peace, which cannot be denied to exist, is due, I believe, to the extraordinary nature of our times. Before this war actually began, the world had been, for a full decade, in a state of ferment and convulsion. Various strictly national attempts were made to mitigate the problems or suppress them by naked force.

Then the all-embracing war, far from solving the problems has accelerated them everywhere, added new problems, and suggested new directions. However and whenever hostilities may cease, we shall not have peace until the ferment has subsided into those forms of life which will endure with reasonable stability for the coming epoch.

To foresee these forms is beyond the mind of any human being. The shape of things to come cannot, therefore, emerge from a blueprint, but from innumerable attempts to establish patterns in innumerable fields. Therefore speculations about a peace table fall short of either the needs or realities of our times. Actually we have seen, and will continue to see, a whole series of peace conferences. Our hope is that within the next ten or twenty years the new pattern of life will take form out of all these conferences and the play of public opinion upon them. The prerequisite for this is that the actual power in the world, as represented by the Big Three, will continue untidily to guard these processes without freezing them by the exercise of naked force, realizing that our age is of transition and change.

Of the many conferences—Bretton Woods was one; the UNRRA conference, the business conference at Rye, the air conference in Chicago, the ILO conference in Philadelphia, and the International Trade Union conference now going on in Britain are others—all are attempts to find the pattern of peace.

The fact that few, if any of them, were wholly successful does not detract from their supreme significance.

We realize today that peace is not merely agreements reached between political powers, but a collaboration and harmony between international factions. It is possible—and it is even probable—that when the final pattern of a peaceful international society emerges, Tehran, Dumbarton Oaks, Mexico City, Yalta, and even San Francisco will appear of lesser rather than greater importance. For the real problems of human society are how can the people of this world be fed? How can currency be stabilized? How can workers actually raise their standards of living? How can economic depression be prevented? How can air and other traffic be satisfactorily organized for most of mankind? Still other problems will require international commissions. For instance, one is needed to confer migration and colonization.

The satisfactory solution of these problems is the antidote to war; the organization of states and of race is to hold up a structure like which these problems can be handled in reason, and can assume the prime importance while is theirs.

Obviously it is impossible to create a rational integration of the chief human functions, which integration would mean peace, unless we can at least postpone, for fifty years, the spectre of war. For it is the spectre of war, and preparation for war, which prevents any rational integration of human functions. Autarchic economies, political pressures to prevent effective international labor organization, trade wars, imperial preference programs, monopolistic tendencies in world markets, these and many other things which disrupt the common interests of mankind on this globe are practiced in anticipation of possible future military clashes.

On the other hand, international collaboration does not merely consist in agreements signed by heads of states, but in the actual doing of things together. The moment commissions of labor organizations sit down, even to consider together, how standards can be created by which workers in one country, a real international society begins to form. And until there is an international society, there will be no reliable international organization. Any organization, of any kind, can very easily be broken up. But a society, once it takes firm roots, and offers advantages to all of its members, will survive almost anything including set-backs and defeats.

A world political organization is therefore only useful as a framework within which, with setbacks, difficulties, failures and fresh starts, an international society can slowly create itself. Until it is created, the framework is essential. Once it is created the framework could all but disappear, and nobody would miss it.

So no peace table, no single gathering of potentates, as we saw at Versailles, will settle the affairs of this dynamic age. We shall find no surcease of the effort and the struggle again to create out of chaos a world which has stability, harmony, and form. It is given this generation of men to live in a world of unprecedented danger and unparalleled opportunity and there is no way out except to face it, and face it for at least a generation, and probably much more.

Reach Agreement in the Veto

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The formula by which the Big Three propose to settle the voting powers of the new league of nations is revealed by the New York Times. Since this newspaper's reports of the Dumbarton Oaks conference have proved accurate in every detail, it is to be assumed that its latest announcement is reliable. In brief, the Big Three agreed, according to the Times, that the veto power in the league council—a subject on which the Dumbarton Oaks conference could not agree—shall be confined solely to cases where the league is called upon to take punitive action against an aggressor.

In all cases not involving punitive measures, decisions would be taken by a simple majority of the eleven-national security council of the league.

In such cases not involving punitive action, all parties to a dispute would not have the right to vote if they themselves were involved in the dispute.

In cases involving punitive action (such as economic or military sanctions) against a nation charged with aggressive intentions, decisions would be taken by a majority of the security council, including Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China, voted affirmatively.

This means that the Big Five nations, permanent members of the council, would have the right to veto any punitive action by the league. But in accepting the formula Russia has made substantial concessions and abandoned the position it took at Dumbarton Oaks. There it insisted that each of the Big Five nations should have the right to veto any action by the security council and to veto any effort to bring a given subject before the council.

Russia's agreement to narrow veto down to issues involving punitive action greatly widens the field within which the security council can act by a simple majority. The new plan also makes it possible for a majority of the council at any time to bring before itself any international dispute, any situation which might disturb the peace of the world. By this means the council would be able at all times to deal with and inform the world of any case of potential aggression, securing all the facts, publicizing them to the world, and thereby world opinion against disturbance of the peace.

If Russia had not abandoned the position it took at Dumbarton Oaks it, or any other of the Big Five nations, could have vetoed the security council even discussing any matter which was embarrassing to it. For example, if the United States or Britain desired the council to discuss a boundary dispute between Russia and some neighbor, Russia could have vetoed it.

Ideally, of course, there should be no single veto in the council. The existence of the veto, in cases of proposed punitive action, will enable any of the five great powers to hold up what may become essential action to protect the peace. In a world more civilized than ours has yet become, we might hope for a league which would act against any power at any time by a simple decision of a majority of all the nations. But since neither Russia, nor probably the U.S. Senate, will agree to such a plan at this point in history, the compromise reached by the Big Three at Yalta represents a great advance.

He: "Do you remember your old school friend, Sophy Raggles?"
She: "Yes, the horrible fright. What of her?"
He: "Oh, nothing, only she is my wife now!"

Urges Drivers Lose Licenses If Intoxicated

Cancellation of drivers' licenses and liquor permits of persons involved in motor accidents while under the influence of liquor was urged in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon by Mr. L. A. J. E. Llesmer (CCF-Calgary), when he spoke in the throne speech debate.

The CCF member also urged legislation be drafted to cancel liquor permits of any person convicted on charges involving drunkenness. "Disapproval must be indicated in the throne speech that any attempt is being made to promote true temperance in the province," he said.

URGES TEMPERANCE

"The people in Alberta decided long ago against prohibition, and perhaps wisely so, but at that time it was agreed by all that by education and regulation this province should progressively become more temperate in the use of alcoholic beverages," said Mr. Llesmer.

Making his maiden speech in the house, the Calgary member declared Premier Ernest Manning's government is now at the parting of the ways. "This session will determine whether it is facing forward with the people or facing backward with reaction," he said. He charged there was evidence the government is rapidly becoming ultra-conservative, and is "virtually the instrument in Alberta of the 'big shots' that in 1935 it was elected to fight."

The government has not sponsored one act since 1940 which has been designed to implement the principles of Social Credit. Mr. Llesmer stated, "To renege on the excuse that the Dominion government disallowed early legislation is no answer to the desires of those Social Credit supporters throughout the province who are looking to this government for a new economic order," he added.

Mr. Llesmer recalled the government polled approximately 145,000 votes in the Aug. 8 provincial general election, while the CCF polled 70,000 and the Independents 45,000. The figures represented a stationary vote for Social Credit, a doubled vote for the CCF, and a great reduction for the Independents, he said.

"EXPLAINS" GAINS

"This does not mean that the CCF gained from the Independents. It simply means that what the CCF gained from the most progressive within the Social Credit party was about exactly counter-balanced by government gains from the old line party vote."

"With the passing of the government from the hands of the late Mr. Aberhart to those of the present leaders, the powers that be realized suddenly that they had at hand, ready-made, in the present government, a better instrument of conservatism than they had tried to create artificially through the fusion of the two old-line parties. Hence, the loss of independent votes."

Referring to the government housing plan, the CCF speaker said that "if the government has some co-operative plan for using our own resources and our own labor to build homes for the people, then it is still fighting the people's battle. If it is merely going to build homes on borrowed money, then it is simply putting us further into the clutches of the '30 big shots who own Canada.'"

CRITICIZES AGREEMENT

Mr. Llesmer criticized the government agreement with Oil Sands Ltd., whereunder the government provides $250,000 to build a pilot oil extraction plant in the Fort McMurray region.

"Those opposed to the CCF say that private exploiters deserve private profit because they take the risk. Yet here the government takes all the risk and the private company all the profit. If the experiment is a failure, we lose; if it is a success the company wins."

Gunman Gets $150

WINNIPEG, March 1.—(CP)—A lone gunman held up the Sherbrooke Pharmacy in downtown Winnipeg last night and escaped with $150 after wounding two customers. No one was injured.

Some 8,000 planes forming greatest Allied air fleet of the war, smashed at Nazi communications shown in shaded area on map of Germany. Assault preceded long-expected grand offensive on the western front. Russian Army sent up 2,000 planes to strike against Nazis on the eastern front.

Property Sales Set New Records

For the second successive month, sales of city-owned property will create all time records, an official stated Tuesday. Sales in January were approximately 100 per cent above the same month in previous years and February sales to date show a considerable increase over any previous February in history.

During the last 10 days, 45 sales were made, totalling $20,540. Of these sales, 27 were made to purchasers intending to build homes, 13 to purchasers desirous of extending their homesites, and five to buyers for industrial or business development.

Victor Lissa, jeweller, purchased a property at 9814 Jasper avenue, the sale price of which was $5,000. He intends to demolish the structure now on the property and will erect a two-story concrete building.

A parcel at 110A avenue and 98 street was sold to a purchaser for $1,200, on which it is intended to build a public garage, the cost of which is estimated at $4,000. Another purchase involves property on 102 avenue at 96 street, on which it is proposed to build a cement and brick machine shop, costing approximately $4,000. Purchase price of the land was $750.

Suggests Streets Named For Sussex

Men of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment won their way so deeply into the hearts of the people of Sussex, where they were quartered for a long period that it has now been suggested Edmonton name avenues or streets after places in Sussex.

A letter, received by Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams of Branch No. 24, Canadian Legion, BESL, from W. Read of the south English county, contains the suggestion.

Mr. Read writes that he would like to thank the Edmonton people for their warm welcome to his daughter, Mrs. A. Dougan, wife of an Edmonton soldier.

Lauding the men of the "gallant Edmonton Regiment," he suggests that the people of Sussex would feel honored if new streets or avenues here were named after Brighton, Worthing, Eastbourne or Fishgate, all well-known Sussex resorts.

Churchill's Wife To Visit Russia Early in Spring

LONDON, March 1.—(Reuters)—Mrs. Winston Churchill has accepted an invitation from the Soviet government and the Red Cross and Red Crescent societies of the USSR to visit Russia, and has arranged to go early in the spring, it was learned last night. This will be Mrs. Churchill's first visit to Russia. She inaugurated the Red Cross Aid to Russia Fund which up to the end of last year had raised more than $6,000,000 (about $27,000,000) and shipped about 15,000 tons of medical supplies to the USSR.

Value of Oil Output Given As $14,468,061

areas was referred to by Mr. Tanner. He said the Shell Oil Company had completed its second well at Jumping Pound and is preparing to drill a third, while Standard Oil of California has struck oil in the Princess area and is now drilling a second well there.

GAS ENCOUNTERED

In the Coalpur area, the Imperial Oil Co. has encountered a strong flow of gas and is drilling to further depth, while in the Beau area, much interest is being shown in development by several oil companies.

Mr. Tanner said exceptional interest had been evidenced by companies interested in salt for industrial purposes in the Vermilion oil field, where a 400-foot thick bed of salt was encountered in oil drilling operations.

The minister said Dr. K. A. Clark, of the Alberta Research Council has reported a process in use last year by which oil was separated satisfactorily from tar sands, leaving the oil entirely clear of any sand.

He went on to say reference had been made in the throne speech debate to agreements between the government and Oil Sands Ltd., whereby a pilot plant is to be erected in the Athabasca tar sand region.

He referred to a statement made earlier by J. Percy Page (Ind. Edm.), leader of the opposition, that the government had made a mistake in entering the McMurray field.

TO BE DEALT WITH

"This matter will be dealt with at some length by Hon. W. A. Falgout, who is chairman of the government committee in charge of the venture," Mr. Tanner said.

Of the lumbering industry, the minister said revenues in 1944 had been greatest in the history of the province. Operations had resulted in a $7,500,000 business being done in the year.

He recommended that aerial surveys of Alberta forests be continued in the post-war years, and that arrangements be made for an air survey and ground-crew check.

of all standing timber with a reasonable distance of rail or road facilities, with maps prepared showing information regarding species, localities and other important information.

"We feel that it is important that the Dominion government bear its share of the expense of these necessary efforts, which affect Canadian territories and people outside the province," Mr. Tanner declared.

He said Alberta fur production for the year ended June 30, 1944, was $4,686,505.

REVIEWS CONFERENCES

Reviewing results of conferences on uniform fish, fur and game regulations for the three prairie provinces, Mr. Tanner said uniformity was very desirable and much was accomplished in this respect.

The fur tax was made uniform in the three provinces, and is calculated in a way to make it more closely related to the value of the furs. More uniform regulations had been worked out regarding the open season on fur-bearing animals as well as for hunting. Uniform bounties for predatory animals such as coyotes, wolves and cougar had been fixed, and uniform commercial fishing regulations were established.

The coal industry in the province has been carrying on in the last two or three years under great handicaps, Mr. Tanner related. Normal markets have been upset, and serious manpower shortages have been experienced.

"It was necessary to issue 501 emergency coal miners' certificates in 1944," the minister stated.

He reported the fatal accident rate in the industry was the lowest since 1915 except for one year, with 180 fatalities reported from 1940 to 1944.

"The government welcomes the setting up of the royal commission to enquire into the coal industry. We were glad to learn of the appointment of two Alberta men, Angus Morrison and C. McLaughlin, to the commission, and of the appointment of J. J. Fawcett, K.C., as commission counsel.

"The future of our coal industry will depend on the findings and the report of the royal commission and the implementation of its recommendations by both the Dominion and provincial governments."

"It is essential that a national coal policy be instituted," said Mr. Tanner. Research is being carried on at the present time to determine what uses can be made of coal other than its use as fuel, he added.

The minister discussed at some length the situation of provincial lands and school lands. He emphasized that under the natural resources transfer agreement, school lands can only be sold by auction, and returns from sales must be placed in the school endowment fund for the purchase of Dominion government bonds. "We have no authority to alter these regulations or terms affecting their administration," members were told.

AVAILABLE TO PUBLIC

Provincial lands are made available to the public under the agricultural lease system, cultivation and grazing leases, and grazing permits and leases, said Mr. Tanner. He detailed operations of the Special Areas Board, which administers operations of some 30 former municipal districts in Alberta.

Arrangements have been made to help finance construction of municipal hospitals for the benefit of those in the special areas, the minister stated. This has been effected by advancing sums of money out of the special areas fund, the money to be paid back without interest over a period of years.

"This will result in making nine hospitals available to the people of the special areas," Mr. Tanner announced.

Calmar Trooper May Laugh Now

Tpr. Walter Papirnych of Calmar, serving with the 8th New Brunswick Hussars, in Italy can laugh at a recent experience in the front line although it caused quite a furor at the time.

The former Calmar carpenter and a companion were on guard in a house overlooking the Vecchio Canal and a bridge crossing it. Their job was to see no German blew up the bridge. Suddenly Papirnych called to his mate and after some consultation they decided four of the enemy were on the bridge.

The task was to capture as many of the enemy as possible and also to prevent the Germans from blowing up the bridge. The patrol worked out on a flank then charged, firing from the hip at the figures on the bridge which could just be seen in the moonlight. But when they reached the structure they found that the four enemy were only the remote corners of the bridge, proving the tank men may be topnotchers in their own line but don't qualify as infantrymen.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

COULD it be that Percy Page is doing a little tactical reconnoitering prior to launching an all-out attempt to entice Roy Van Graffan away from the home fireside, this time accompanied by his Rochester Filarets?

Of course it might be just a coincidence that the Edmonton basketball coach has dropped what looks not unlike a challenge into the lap of a sports writer in Toronto—not exactly straight across Lake Ontario from Rochester, but almost.

In her column the other day, Bobbie Rosenfeld of the Toronto Globe and Mail had the following to say:

"A note from Percy Page (now don't tell us you aren't hep to the name) says that the famed Edmonton Grads plan a reunion and celebration of their 30th birthday on or about May 15, and expect to mark the occasion with a series of basketball games with some American teams."

"Writes Percy, 'Some of the Old Timers have an idea they still have a game or two left in their system, and, frankly, I think that with a few weeks practice we could defeat most of the present day teams—especially the kind that Roy Van Graffan is knocking over.'"

"Incidentally, Noel MacDonald (Robertson) and Elia Dann, two of the Grads' all-time greats, are still playing—Elia for the Edmonton Pats and Noel for the RCAF Grem-lins."

SEVERAL PRIZE WINNERS
SEVERAL of Edmonton's five-winners who attended the recent record-breaking bowling tournament in Calgary were still around when the list of prize winners was being made up.

Members of the Hoot Owls, who won the "B" team event with a score of 3,567 were Gordon Haining, Mamie McNabb, Mary Beggs, Mrs. C. Fleming and Ernie Wakefield. Winnie Rutherford was in the front row for honors in "B" ladies' singles with 814.

Tommy Scott and Mamie McNabb placed fourth in "B" mixed doubles, and Gordon Barker rolled the second highest game in the tournament, 388. Gordon's was the top score for the tourney up to that time, but on the very next game, Nels Murphy of Vancouver came up with 393 to ease the Edmonton kegger out of first place.

GREAT CURLING RECORD
CLIFF MANAHAN'S Royal club curlers weren't clicking any too well during the early stages of the Edmonton bonspiel, but they made a fine finish and then continued to brush aside all opposition in the Northern Alberta British Consol playdowns, eventually ousting Billy Rose of Sedgewick in the final 7-5 and 10-6.

Favored to repeat in the Alberta final at Calgary yesterday, Cliff's rink did drop the first game to Hube Gooder, but came through right on schedule with next pair. And so now it's three in a row—'43-44 and '45, and seven all-told. John Slavik of Viking won the Alberta British Consols in '42, the last year the Dominion Brier was held.

Manahan won the Canadian championship in '33 and again in '37 and he finished second in '38 and third in '40. Cancellation of the Brier for the last three years, automatically snuffed out an opportunity for Cliff to hang up an all-time Dominion record, but it does not detract in the least from what is a truly remarkable curling performance.

Royal Club Curlers Lose to Olds Rink 10-13, Then Take Two 15-3, 11-8

Manahan Wins 7th British Consols Title

Beats Gooder After Losing First Game

CALGARY, March 1. —(CP)—Winning the last two games in a best of three playoff here Wednesday night Cliff Manahan of the Edmonton Royal Club won his seventh British Consols provincial curling championship and his third in succession.

The northerners dropped a 10-13 decision to Hube Gooder's rink of Olds in the first game but came back to win the second 15-3 and clinched the honors with a 11-8 triumph in the third.

Manahan first won the Alberta title in 1933. Since then he has been crowned champion in 1937, 1938, 1940, 1943, 1944 and 1945. In 1933 and 1937 he won the MacDonald's Brier Tankard dominion championship and was runner up in 1938.

The Edmonton skip and his second Lloyd McIntyre played three fine games, while Wes Robinson third man after an erratic first displayed rare form in the next two. The lead man, Bill Bull was fairly consistent, although his best display was in the deciding contest.

Lacking the experience of their opponents, the Olds rink skipped by Harold (Swaney) Sorenson made a favorable showing. Vern Holmes was second and Ralph Maybank lead.

The playoff was staged on kreen and exceptionally true artificial ice.

Jack McIntyre of Edmonton and R. G. Hakkrik of Olds officiated as umpires.

Score by ends:
First Game:
Gooder 230 196 650 20-13
Manahan 101 052 102 01-10
Second Game:
Manahan 303 030 225-15
Gooder 610 101 000-3
Third Game:
Manahan 202 102 063 01-11
Gooder 019 010 120 30-8

TORONTO, March 1. —(CP)—Officially there is to be no Allan Cup playoff this year. But from Quebec City, home of the 1944 dominion senior champion Aces, comes the voice of an old ice-lane trapper, Don Peniston, with an idea that might be feasible.

The veteran pilot told Al (Montreal Herald) Parsley that the Aces are ready to suggest that they defend the Cup they now hold against any challenger on a best-of-two-of-three basis. Don points out that the Cup was once a challenge trophy and under the present circumstances they would simply return to the original basis upon which Sir Montagu Allan donated the trophy.

Aces are second in the Quebec senior group, five points behind Montreal Royals and with only one game to play, while Royals still have two to go. But Aces were one of the two Quebec teams that signified their willingness to travel west for a dominion final.

If the CANA—and the Cup trustees—are willing, perhaps the Quebec coach has something. Aces say that a three game series could be played in one week-end—Friday night, Sunday afternoon and Monday night, if necessary. That way an eastern team would not lose too much time in playing a series, while Aces might even entertain thoughts of travelling to meet the winners of a western Canada playoff.

Of course, Aces are not suggesting that the Quebec playoff be abandoned. Though they rest in second slot, they look forward to a try at retaining the Thomas O'Connell memorial trophy for the league championship.

Bruce MacKay Fires Winner As MPD Oust AAC by 5-4

A goal by Bruce MacKay, big Med-Pharm-Dents defence-man, with just two minutes remaining gave the Med team a 5-4 victory over Arts-Ag-Com in the sudden death semi-final of the University Inter-faculty Hockey League playoffs at 119 Street rink Wednesday night.

The MPD squad now meets Engineers, winners of the league schedule, in a best of three series, likely starting at the week-end, for the University championship.

MacKay also tallied two other markers and assisted in a fourth counter to pace the winners while Paul Drouin netted the other two Med goals. John Colter fired two and Ron Nattress and Frank Quigley one each for the Arts.

Nattress combined with Quigley to give the losers a 1-0 lead early in the initial canto, but before the period ended, the Meds were out in front 2-1. MacKay scored on a pass from Drouin and then Drouin hit the twine on a play with Bert Hall.

Quigley tied it up at 14:02 of the second frame, but just 25 seconds later, MacKay put the winners out in front again and less than a minute afterwards passed to Drouin who made it 4-2.

Arts-Ag-Com came back strong in the third and deadlocked the count as Colter tallied twice, first on a rally from Quigley and Neil Duncan and then on a pass from Quigley.

But then in the closing minutes of play Drouin assisted MacKay for the winning goal that meant a chance to win the league title.

He said that in other years only a few ducks had been seen in the area.

Leafs' Chances in Playoffs 'Doggone Good' Claims Day

TORONTO, March 1. —(CP)—Toronto's once-mighty Maple Leafs, winless in their last seven hockey starts, are absorbing a lot of criticism along with their ice defeats these days—and not the least of it begins right at home in their dressing room.

That was what Toronto Coach Hap Day revealed Wednesday in an interview, commenting on Leafs' recent decline and the verbal brickbats levelled at them by Toronto and other sports writers.

Day, termed Toronto's recent record "the worst of any Leaf team." But he quickly qualified that by saying he has a serious eye on that Stanley Cup and Leafs' chances are "doggone good."

"I'm working hard on them for the way they've been playing," said the coach. "And I'll continue until they get back to their old form. It's the duty of every coach to work on his team when they are not giving all that might be given. The public is entitled to the best a team can show."

Leafs haven't won a game since they licked Boston 5-1 at the US city Feb. 6. And each Day believed that their hockey grief stemmed "not from lack of trying, but more from dumb mistakes."

Despite their slump, Leafs are firmly entrenched in third place in the NHL standings, assured of a playoff spot. And Coach Day thinks everything will come out all right, that "Leafs will be contenders right from the start" for the Stanley Cup.

Fire Destroys Stadium, 'Gym In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, March 1. —(CP)—Four persons escaped unscathed last night when a spectacular three-alarm fire destroyed Capilano Stadium, and the pro-recreational gymnasium, situated just south of Vancouver's downtown industrial centre.

The stadium, home of the Western International League, was owned by the Capilano Brewing Company Limited. Stadium manager Bob Brown estimated damage at $35,000. He said temporary stands probably would be erected for the coming summer baseball season.

The stadium formerly was known as Athletic Park and was the site of many provincial football and soccer play-offs. The fire wiped out the main grandstand, dressing room and offices and rendered the gymnasium useless.

Ted Christy of Hollywood, whose "gentle" methods had the fans on his neck right from the start of his recent bout here, has been rematched with Lee Grabbie, Los Angeles. This pair will be included on Monday's card.

Only two of the preliminary "rascals" had been named up to Wednesday—Maurice De Bleeck and Steve Jossil, both of whom have appeared in earlier shows at the Empire.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, March 1.—(BUP)—One of the most interesting experiments of the approaching baseball season will be Thomas "Buckshot" Brown's attempt to make good as shortstop for the Brooklyn Dodgers. Manager Leo Durocher already has picked him for the job.

Brown, only 17, is a key figure in president Branch Rickey's youth movement—in Rickey's campaign to rebuild the seventh-place Dodgers for the future, with young talent.

Like the well known tree that grew in Brooklyn, Brown also sprouted there. The tall, dark-haired youngster not only is a native product but he was one of the Borough's red hot fans—than which there are no hotter. He had been yelling from the centerfield pews ever since he was able to toddle into Ebbets Field. He has the spirit of the Gowanus.

WILL TRY TO PLUG GAP

TOMMY-THE-KID will try to plug an infield gap that has weakened the flatbushers since Pee-Wee Reese went into service after the 1942 season. Since then, the utility of Dodger short-fielders caused Durocher no end of mental anguish. Leo-the-lip, formerly a grand shortstop, threatened time and again to take over the job himself. He chewed his carefully manicured nails last season while a parade of misfits mismanaged the job: Gene Mauch, Eddie Basinski, Bill Hart, Pat Ankerman, Ed Stanky, Bobby Bragan, and Eddie Miksis.

Early in August, buckshot Brown was brought in from the Newport News, Va., Club, where Tommy—then only 16—was having his first whirl at organized baseball.

Rickey and Durocher apparently figured that the brilliant young prospect would do no worse at the Dodger short post than the other had. Moreover, he probably would do no worse in Brooklyn than he had been doing at Newport News.

Young Brown did good and bad with Newport News. He hit well and retrieved well; but when it came to throwing runners out at first, it was anybody's guess where the ball would go. He overthrew so much so heartily that one night a delegation of sailor fans took their seats beyond first base, armed with baseball gloves in self defense. One of the sailors wise-

Buckley Doesn't Like Idea Dempsey Not Listing Sharkey

By FRANK HART

BOSTON, March 1.—(CP)—Johnny Buckley, manager of former heavyweight champion Jack Sharkey, doesn't like the idea of Jack Dempsey failing to list "My Boy" as one of the 10 best he ever met.

"Why Sharkey could lick him the best day he ever lived," said the ex-gob's stocky mentor and now his associate in the operation of a tavern with "the longest bar in Boston."

"In fact, we could lick him today and we will if he gives us a match—all receipts to go for the benefit of servicemen."

"I mean that," Buckley said after scanning the list of the best 10 Dempsey gave out in San Francisco. Sharkey, who hung up his gloves long ago was not available to speak for himself.

Buckley asserted that Dempsey "foiled my boy to death" in their Madison Square Garden jam in June, 1927. "He hit Sharkey at least 11 fouls blows. Everyone at the ringside knew that including the newspaper boys. You could see those punches to the groin a mile away."

"Why we had him licked in the third round. He was out on his feet, but Sharkey was a little too merciful, and as a result he lost the chance to meet Tunney."

Sharkey could have beaten seven of the 10 men named by Dempsey, Johnny averred.

"Tunney and Gibbons were great fighters," Buckley agreed. "Fulton would have been a cinch for Sharkey. Gunboat Smith would have been easy; a Brennan bout would have been one-sided for Sharkey; Carpenter only weighed

Minors Planning To Meet Major Representatives

CHICAGO, March 1.—(AP)—A Minor league committee, which has demanded a voice in selection of Baseball's new commissioner, Wednesday planned to meet with Major league representatives within the next three months to discuss proposed changes in the current Major-Minor league agreement.

The 10-member committee closed a three-day session which proposed "numerous" revisions in the agreement. It selected a seven-man sub-committee to uphold its recommendations in a meeting with Chairman Tom Richardson, president of Major league officials scheduled at 158—what the hell, he was a setup."

Dempsey, however, named them among others as the best he ever opposed. He didn't even give Sharkey honorable mention.

Buckley said Sharkey was a better boxer than either Dempsey or Tunney and a better hitter than the latter.

"We're ready for that return engagement right now," Johnny said. "Is Dempsey."

dent of the Eastern league, said the committee had recommended an increase in the maximum player draft price of $7,800, but asserted that the group had been more concerned with "clarification" of major-minor league relationships than with an increase in minor league powers.

He said that clauses pledging the Minor leagues to the discipline of the commissioner had been left mainly untouched. The Majors recently qualified their own agreement to give the American and National circuits authority to override the commissioner on legislative matters which the latter might construe to be detrimental to the conduct of baseball.

District News In Brief

Alberta Bren-Gunner Lauds British Hospitality for Hospital Patients

PONOKA.—The unfailing kindness of the British people to Canadian servicemen made the deepest impression on Pte. Ernest H. Hickmore, who spent several years overseas with the Canadian Army. Pte. Hickmore is visiting his father, Thomas W. Hickmore of Ponoka.

The soldier recalled a visit paid to him when he was a patient in an English hospital. A small family dropped in to check on his progress, bringing him the gift of a half dozen eggs, in spite of the strict British ration of one egg a person each week.

"These people give the boys the very best of everything they have," Hickmore said.

PRaises MEDICS

He had praise too for the Army Medical Corps. He received the most modern treatment for his wounds, food was excellent and nurses were untiring in their efforts. NS. J. Packford of Edmonton, under whose care he was placed, received high commendation from him.

A Bren-gunner, the Alberta-trained soldier was wounded at Normandy last August. He is a former attendant at the provincial mental hospital. He enlisted in August, 1943.

Pte. Hickmore recounted one of the amusing incidents that keep life from being too much of a sameness for the Canadians overseas. In a French village, he and some other lads discovered a pair of manicure scissors in a house recently vacated by the Germans. With the Nazis within firing distance, they took time off to give each other a hair-cut. "We thought we'd like to look neat," he said.

Post-War Market For Hogs Assured

OTTAWA, March 1.—(CP)—It would be a mistake to allow hog production to decline, because Canada's post-war market will depend largely on the number of hogs she is able to produce. Agriculture Minister Gardiner said yesterday in an interview.

In the week ended Feb. 17, hog gradings amounted to 1,127,376, a decline of 28.5 per cent as compared with gradings of 1,577,511 in the corresponding week of 1944.

Last year Canada shipped 700,000 pounds of bacon to the United Kingdom, and has undertaken to ship 450,000,000 pounds in 1945 and 1946 respectively, a total of 900,000,000 pounds. A market exists for as much as can be produced, and British authorities have indicated they hoped shipments would reach 600,000,000 pounds in 1945 and 1946.

Mr. Gardiner said production last year was higher than had been thought possible, and that to some extent farmers "overdid" it. The production of feed grains last year was "not so good", and livestock had been fed on the big crop grain in 1942.

The committee, comprised of representatives of all house parties, will aim at improvement of Ontario labor laws and will consider means of providing labor relations legislation on a national scale for application at conclusion of the war.

In its deliberations, which begin immediately and will continue after the present session if necessary, the committee is empowered to call any witnesses or evidence deemed necessary to its inquiry into the labor relations field.

Charles Cherrington living at a city hotel, and John Fraser, 946 102A avenue, were arrested and charged with dangerous driving after overnight traffic accidents according to city police.

Fraser received a slight bump on the head, while his wife suffered a cut on the chin, after the car in which they were riding collided with a power pole at 127 avenue and 125 street, about 6:10 p.m. Wednesday.

Cherrington, police alleged, left his truck after it had crashed into a steel lamp standard at 97 street and 102 avenue, damaging a fire alarm box and a postal mail box at 12:12 a.m. Thursday. The crash was heard at police headquarters.

SOON LOCATED

About three minutes later, Cherrington was found in the vicinity of 96 street and 102 avenue by investigators. It was stated. He was lodged in the lock-up.

Police were informed that six persons had been in the Fraser car when it collided with a power pole late Wednesday afternoon. Two of the party were said to have left the scene before the arrival of police. J. Perrot, 13501 120 street, and W. A. Calvert, of the same address, also passengers in the car, escaped injury.

British-U.S. Soldiers In Far East

Have One Advantage Over Others

Are Allowed Batmen of Very Own

In one way only American and British soldiers in the tough China-India-Burma theatre of war are the envy of soldiers of similar rank elsewhere. Every private can have a batman or handy man at very little cost.

James K. Gipson, who was field director with the American Red Cross in the CIB war theatre for 15 months gave an interesting report on conditions in the far east on his arrival in Edmonton as assistant to Field Director George A. Schroeder.

"But having their own servants doesn't begin to make up to GIs what they yearn for in the way of American or British home life. They are all mighty lonely boys out there," Mr. Gipson said.

THE METHOD

The method is for a group of privates to club together and hire a native to clean shoes and shine brass for a small monthly wage, the Red Cross man stated.

Mr. Gipson, who spent 15 months in North Africa, India, China and Burma, is a former furniture salesman of Wilkesburg, Pa.

On his way to North Africa the convoy he was in was bombed three times and one ship sank with three American Red Cross men losing their lives.

Bombers attacked the convoy off Southern France, Benghazi and Crete. There were no casualties on his own ship, Gipson said. He also served at the B-29 Superfortress bases in the far east.

He travelled more than the distance around the world since leaving the USA, touching at Australia, New Caledonia and the New Hebrides on his way to India.

Around the Town

Offices of the department of veterans' affairs with the exception of the welfare office at 10019 101A avenue, will move into the Redwood Building, Jasper avenue and 113 street, next Monday. This building formerly was known as the Bechtel-Price-Callahan Building.

Recent contributions to the Queen's Canadian Fund amount to $41.85 bringing the total to date of $27,835.67. Subscriptions were received from the McCauley Concert Group, $3. Variety Players, Edmonton, $33.95, and Roseleaf Local UFWA, Blackfalds, $5.

The Red Cross has a message for Elmar H. Petersen who lived at 11233 127 street, and also Miss Linda MacLean whose address is given as "around the 94th block" on 104 street. The Red Cross is also anxious to get the address of Miss Lena Cameron, Edmonton, whose last address was 1495 Queen street west, Toronto 3.

The Inquiring Reporter

What do you think of the proposed stopping of speculation on farm lands as urged by Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of agriculture?

THE ANSWERS

REG. WATTS, farmer: I believe that accurate appraisals of land are necessary to the welfare of the farmer who is going to operate on that land in years to follow. Without it, farming has been and will be more of a gamble than necessary.

KEN MCKENZIE, salesman: If this step were taken, I think it would be a move in the right direction. With sufficient legislation of this sort, Canada's farmers would reach their proper industrial level. After all, no other industry in Canada is based as extensively on spot speculation.

DONALD NICOLS, student: It seems to me that when speculation enters the world of finance, prices go up until there is an acute danger of inflation in the particular sphere involved. I would like to see such farm land speculation discouraged or even stopped entirely.

Purse Snatcher Gets Away in Car

Saying "hello" to her, as she walked along 107 avenue, between 99 and 101 streets, about 10:15 p.m. Wednesday, a man who stepped out of a car seized her purse, jumped into the auto again and sped away. Miss Phyllis Westcott, 10657 103 street, reported to city police. She stated that the purse contained a total of approximately $37, a pen and pencil set, national registration certificate and some letters.

Claims Hard Work Helpful to Health

Stewart Hart, who resides at 11724 88 street, credited the celebration of his 94th birthday anniversary to the fact that "hard work never hurt anyone." Mr. Hart, a member of the Northern Alberta Pioneers and Old Timers Association, has lived in Edmonton since before the First Great War.

Non-drinker and non-smoker, Mr. Hart says he has always worked hard, likes to do things that way, and gets into the open air as much as possible. In spite of his great age, the pioneer reads without glasses, ably looks after all his own needs, and takes a keen interest in both household and international affairs. About the war, he says, "I'd like to see it finished."

Mr. Hart born in Quebec, came west in 1903 to farm for a short time in the Westlock district. In Edmonton he has been a blacksmith, a barn boss and a gentleman of leisure. He retired about 15 years ago.

He lives at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. E. Cooper, and his son-in-law. Another son, Fred Hart, resides in Edmonton. Two sons, Herbert, formerly of Watnwright, and Loy, and his wife, died several years ago. There are six grandchildren, the Harts, Donald, Margaret, Martha, Sadie and Loy, and OS Loy Cooper of the Canadian Navy, who has been out at sea since August.

DIRECTS PLAY.—Sidney Risk who will direct the Edmonton Little Theatre production of Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" at the Empire theatre on March 9 and 10. A specially fine cast has been selected for this play, which officials feel will be one of the most popular ever presented here.

Jeers and Haircut Mark Student Vote

Accompanied by the enthusiastic jeers of medical students, the weird parade wound from the University of Alberta's south "Lab" around the arts building, through the rotunda to the second floor, down through the library and then past the medical building to its convening point outside the south "Lab". The engineer students at the university were staging the parade Wednesday morning as a prelude to the election of officers Wednesday afternoon, were undaunted by the jeers.

Clad in plaid shirts, hob-nailed boots, straw hats, carrying banners and smoking pipes, they followed their patron saint, Lady Godiva, represented by a classmate dressed in long underwear and mounted on a white nag, and were in turn followed by a grimacing mephistopheles. They were accompanied by a plaid-clad four-piece band.

Probably the only "stude" who failed to enjoy the proceedings was the freshmen engineer, who underwent a haircut, a punishment awarded because he had dared to take a law student, disguised as a girl, to the annual engineers' ball.

The parade, which many students believed had revived some of the old engineer's spirit, was held to publicize the engineering fraternity's "big day". The event will be climaxed Wednesday night at a banquet in the Macdonald hotel.

Known in Edmonton W. Calder Mourned

Director of the petroleum and natural gas division of the department of lands and mines from 1931 to 1935, William Calder died in England recently after a brief illness. It has been learned here.

Mr. Calder was active in oil development in many parts of the world, including Russia, Mexico and Trinidad, before coming to Alberta in 1926. For several years he was an engineer for the Dominion government in the office of the supervisory mining engineer, and when the natural resources were taken over by the province he was selected to head the Petroleum and Natural Gas division.

On returning in 1935 he went to England and settled in Kensington, Kent. During the past two years he took on work for the Department of Munitions under the difficult conditions of air attack on Southern England. During the First Great War he held the rank of captain and was assigned on intelligence duty to Russia.

Surviving are his widow, Charlotte, a son, Victor, an officer in the RAF at present in England after instruction and duty in Singapore and Buitawaya, a daughter, Constance, who is a nurse in England, and a married daughter in the Sudan.

Surplus Wheat Board Revenue $1,867 in 1944

Net revenue of the board of trustees of surplus wheat board fund was $1,867 during 1944, according to a report tabled this week in the Legislature. In 1943, total of $1,831 was received by the trustees.

The fund arises from surplus funds received by the provincial government from the 1916-1919 Canadian Wheat Board. Trustees are Hon. D. Bruce MacMillan, minister of agriculture, Richard Ballhorn, Wetaskiwin, and Arthur Pierson, Calgary.

Payments by the board during the year were $707, a new low mark. This is due to many scholarship winners having enlisted in the armed forces. In all cases where students have enlisted before making use of the scholarships, they may take advantage of them on return to civilian life.

NEW SCHOLARSHIP

One new scholarship was created by the board during the year, for the leading student at Girls' Club Week of the Olds School of Agriculture. It will be valued at $75.

Scholarships paid during 1944 included a total of $375 to the Olds School of Agriculture and $300 to the University of Alberta. Balance of payments for the year were $32, for trustees' and office expenses. Bank balance of the fund at Dec. 31, 1944, was $4,708.

Man Committed

The 25-year-old man arrested last week in connection with molesting west-end residents by night, was found to be of "unstable mind" by Magistrate L. R. Jackson Wednesday afternoon, and was committed to the Oliver mental institution. Several complaints from west-end residents had been received by police before an arrest was made.

Fire in Roof

Sees 2 More Years In Far East War

One of the men who spent those dramatic "thirty seconds over Tokyo" in "Jimmy" Doolittle's daring first raid on Japan in April of 1942, thinks the Japs will fight on for at least two more years.

Maj. Richard Knobloch, co-pilot of a B-25 that lurched up from the deck of the U.S. Aircraft Carrier Hornet on the Tokyo raid is now serving with the cold weather testing detachment at Ladd Field, Fairbanks, Alaska.

Maj. Knobloch predicts the main fight against Japan will be made in China.

Distance, logistics, problems of supplying both Chinese and Americans, plus the fanatical tenacity of the enemy, are all factors against early victory, he states.

The B-25 in which the major flew had Yokosuka in Tokyo Bay as a target the day of the Doolittle raid. "At 1,200 feet we couldn't miss," he said. His plane landed safely in China.

If you intend to stop, as you should, at a stop sign which you see at the intersection and then slam on your brakes. You wear out your brake lining quickly, worry the pedestrians crossing the street and take a chance on your brakes not doing a good job and so causing injury to someone. It's easier on everyone to slow up before you actually get to the street line.

PRIVATE BREGER ABROAD—"Yeah, I know it's three more days till pay day, but I want to be the first in line!"

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Grow Old Pleasantly; Grouches Are Unwanted Make Senility a Pleasure by Keeping Independent and Up With Times; Too Many Elderly People Go Hard Boiled and Erratic

A philosopher, who is on the optimistic side, writes me: "My mother is now 75 and I am trying to keep her spirits alive and show her and others, both young and old, that age has many untold and fascinating experiences to which they may look forward as eagerly and yearningly as a young man or woman looks for 21. I want to teach that growing old is an art and that age is an accomplishment."

More power to him if he can do it. I can think of no greater missionary work anyone can perform than lightening the gloom that hangs over old age, and makes us dread growing old more than we do death itself. For in spite of the poet's invitation to come and "grow old with him for the best is yet to be," we would all decline the bid if we had any say-so in the matter.

Certainly it would take a miracle worker to change age from what it is to what we would like it to be, for age is not the dawn in which we look starry-eyed towards the future. It is the twilight in which we take off our spectacles and muse upon the past, which is none too cheerful a diversion. And, no matter how much we kid ourselves into believing we are still mere girls and boys in our fifties and sixties and that even when we are 70 we are still young, in our hearts we know it is not true.

We know we have slowed down, mentally and physically; our joints creak; we have had to put on bifocals and get hearing aids, or else say "heh?" to people who are trying to talk to us, and having our faces lifted hasn't lifted the burden of the years upon us.

Old age is still old age. It is no fun, but it can be made pleasant if we make up our minds to accept it as something that is bound to happen to us in life, unless we die young, and to prepare ourselves for it.

The best way to do this is to keep going. Keep busy. Stick to your job whatever it is. When you retire from business, you also retire from everything that makes life interesting. The reason so many old people are bored and bored is because they sit down on the nothing stool, with no occupation except to listen to their arteries harden.

The next rule for making old age a pleasure instead of a penance is to keep yourself independent. Don't spend everything you make up your mind to accept it as something that is bound to happen to us in life, unless we die young, and to prepare ourselves for it.

There is no way you can change the weak tea of age into the champagne of youth, but it needn't be such a bitter drink if you will keep from acquiring "ways," avoid falling into ruts, change your opinions as often as you do your shirt, keep in circulation and deny yourself the pleasure of self-pity.

HOLD EVERYTHING— "If she doesn't want you, Sergeant, I'll take you!"

LIFE'S LIKE THAT—"Who wants to earn a free office visit by answering my phone while you're waiting?"

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Every mother always says, "I want my children to love each other. I want them to be a happy family."

We feel that there is a personal value to the child in such felicitous family relationships, for they indicate his successful adjustment to individuals who, despite their closeness to him, often are utterly unlike him.

We must realize that the good relationships in the home are a pre-requisite to good relationships out of the home. The individual who is amiable with brothers and sisters will be the same individual who has loving friends and friendly schoolmates, and avoids catastrophic conflicts.

If he cannot successfully meet the bumps and bruises of personality differences in the home, he is ill-equipped to face the world.

There has to be a method, unconscious though it may be, of helping the child to develop his own personality and yet to appreciate the difference in others. Sometimes we think we have found that method when we have taught children tolerance of others.

Tolerance is such a cold virtue, indicative of such a superior spirit, that just to be tolerant is not enough. What we should help children to feel is a true appreciation of others and their right to be themselves, however different.

An education in the appreciation of individual difference, like the well-known charity, begins at home. It begins by the mother's constant example of personal appreciation for the varying qualities of her own flock.

This example, strengthened by suggestions of how well Johnny can work with his hands, how comfortable Ellen can make everyone in her presence, what unusual good taste Donnie displays, builds up this attitude of looking for admirable qualities, even though in youth these may have to be dug for under other less admirable aspects of personality.

Our leaflet, "Selfishness and Jealousy," may be had by sending your request, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Minute Make-Ups

The long face and long neck need the flattery of a soft wide low pompadour. The back is done in a chignon of curls, caught in a net. The long neck is thus softened and flattered in contour. Note the wide double-fan style earrings. They add width to the contour. If the chignon is not held by a net or a snood, the hair should be done in big, loose curls at the back, low on the neck. And, watch your make-up!

IN FAVORITE ROLE—Harold Kravitt, leading bass of the San Carlo Opera Company, who will be heard as Mephistopheles in Gounod's "Faust" at the Empire theatre on Saturday afternoon. A favorite with Edmonton audiences he sang the same role when the company last visited this city several years ago.

Reforestation Experimental Project Asked

Immediate start on a small, experimental reforestation project was suggested in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon by Norman A. Willmore (SC-Edson), when he took part in the throne speech debate.

"I am quite aware that a government cannot embark on a comprehensive scheme of reforestation at this time," the Edson member stated. "But now is the time to do some planning along these lines."

If a small project was started, at some future date when large-scale reforestation could be undertaken, useful and correct information on the subject would be available, Mr. Willmore pointed out.

INITIAL ADDRESS

Making his initial address in the house, the Edson member said: "I am sure we are all agreed on the necessity of reforestation sooner or later. I am not so sure all members fully appreciate the extreme importance of not only maintaining, but also increasing the stands of timber in the province, inasmuch as it affects Alberta's entire economic life."

"The forest lands stretching down the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains affect the rainfall on our park lands and prairie. There is considerable qualified opinion to support the contention that if this area were to be depleted of its forest, bush and muskegs, that much of our present productive farm lands would become barren waste land—to the detriment of the whole province."

"The control of flood waters and the incidence of soil erosion is also affected by the area of the forests," Mr. Willmore voiced the hope that worthwhile recommendations would result from the royal commission on coal, soon to begin sittings in Alberta. He noted the government's interest in the future of the coal industry, as well as in safety of men employed in the industry.

SEEKS BRUSH CUTTER

He requested the government to make a heavy-duty brush cutter available to settlers in Edson riding, so they could clear further acreage for farming. "The settlers are willing to pay for this service, but it is a service which they cannot provide for themselves because they cannot accumulate sufficient capital to acquire this expensive equipment. More acreage per farm under cultivation would mean a better standard of living and better ability to pay taxes, which are used for roads and schools."

Primary roads, built to serve settlers and farmers of Edson riding, were now subject to heavy use by lumber trucks which made them almost impassable for settlers, said Mr. Willmore.

The member said the solution is that more money should be spent on these roads than would ordinarily be the case. It should be arranged that only a portion of the money spent should be charged against tax-paying ability of farmers and settlers, because of the fact the lumber industry are such heavy users of the roads.

Edmonton Gunner Directs Guns' Fire

Lance Bombardier Bob Shaw, of 12117 127 street, can vouch for the support the First Field Regiment, RCA, gave the Royal 22nd Regiment during recent fighting in the Italian theatre of war, according to information reaching here.

Lt. Shaw, former Edmonton carpenter, was with a forward observation party controlling the fire of guns when a house held by the enemy was picked out as a target. A ranging bracket was obtained and five delayed action fuse rounds of high explosives went into the house in quick succession.

Out trotted nine "Kamarad" calling Germans, including one officer, who had had enough.

States Alberta Whitefish Best On Any Market

Alberta whitefish are now the best available on any market on the North American continent. Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, declared in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon, in the course of an address outlining activity of his department in the last year.

"For the first time in the history of Alberta, the consumer can rest assured that all whitefish on the market in the province have passed rigid inspection," the minister stated. Alberta citizens and those importing fish from Alberta can now have the assurance that they are being provided with the best whitefish available on any market on the continent."

Last year, the Legislature set up regulations governing commercial fishing in the province.

LAKES INSPECTED

"During the summer of 1944, the most important lakes in the province have been inspected and, with the exception of a very few of the less important lakes, all were found to be suitable for commercial fishing," Mr. Tanner stated. "Fish from these lakes will pass the requirements and tests of the United States Pure Food Administration."

Regulations prevent fish being taken from lakes where they do not meet these requirements, it was explained.

"It is gratifying to learn that commercial production of fish has increased considerably over the last five years, with the fish finding a very ready market. The future of the industry appears to be extremely favorable," Mr. Tanner commented.

He said that with whitefish passing rigid inspection, export of fish should be placed in a very favorable position, in that they can command the highest prices from all, and will be in great demand by U.S. fish dealers.

Business and Professional Club Celebrates International Night

"Everyone should be familiar with the lore of his own race, not familiar with it from reading books, but familiar with it because he hears it related," said Prof. Robert E. Gard, of the University of Alberta, speaking to members of the Canadian Business and Professional Women's club, Edmonton branch at the annual "International Night" celebration held at the Corona hotel on Wednesday evening at a dinner. Prof. Gard's subject was "International Aspects of Alberta Folklore."

"I believe that first of all the people of the region must be more conscious of their traditions," Prof. Gard continued, and illustrated with the famous Alberta folk tale of the sleigh and the Chinook. The sleigh was very deep. Suddenly Dave noticed that a Chinook was slipping up behind him. He whipped up his horse, but the wind caught up the sleigh faster and faster and he refused to say, "Twice all I could do to keep the front runners on the snow. The back ones was raising a hell of a dust storm."

TOLD IN STATES

This story is told over and over again with a little difference, sometimes along behind a curtain, at a distance, sometimes in a hall, or in a square sitting in the back of the wagon and looking out at the white Dave, up in front of the wagon, tells fourteen feet. And the story is told in many parts of the United States, also, with a famous American as the hero.

Kipping called Medicine Hat "the town that was built on a hill of hell for a basement." Mr. Gard said, and a good deal of Kipping's wit was shown. "Medicine Hat had to do with a desire on the part of some of the Hat folks to change the name of the town. Kipping was dead against this. He had heard of the Hat people called Medicine Hat, Colonel Chapin."

ALBERTA TRADITIONS

The speaker asked what are Alberta traditions and what are Canadian traditions. What is there to compare to Paul Bunyan, Davy Crockett, John Henry, Jesse James, and so on. What are the myths, legends, and folk tales of the province of Alberta? The speaker asked what are Alberta traditions and what are Canadian traditions. What is there to compare to Paul Bunyan, Davy Crockett, John Henry, Jesse James, and so on. What are the myths, legends, and folk tales of the province of Alberta?

Miss Margaret Thompson spoke on "International Affairs" telling "before the war there had been 27 clubs, exclusive of the federation in the United States and newly formed branches in two countries now bring the total to 29. Then came the war. The German Federation was disbanded after the coming of Hitler, even though the war lights still burned in Finland. The one extinguished flame burns again in liberated France."

This celebration was the 11th world wide observance of International Day. Miss Thompson said. Hundreds of associate member clubs in the United States and Canada and affiliated organizations in Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Finland, Great Britain, New Zealand, South Africa, Sweden and Switzerland joined in the observance.

12 COUNTRIES

In the 12 countries in which International Day observance was carried forward this year the theme was "The World Women Want." Programs dealt with the views of women as to the post-war political structure in their individual countries and in the world at large.

Alderman Hilda Hesson of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Federation, in a message to Canadian clubs, wrote, "The world women want is one where men and women stand together, sharing responsibility and work, and struggling together toward peace, order and understanding, that may be a better world for happier people."

SURVEY OF WORK

Mrs. Margaret DeVin, vice-president of the Edmonton club, gave a survey of the work of clubs in other countries. She concluded by saying, "The Big Three may lay down plans for the future but we, the people, will have to live together as friendly neighbors to have a happy world."

Miss Jean McCallum, president of the Edmonton club, gave an address of welcome and introduced the speakers.

Miss Geraldine Mason gave piano solos.

Seated at the table were Mrs. McCallum, Prof. and Mrs. Gard, Mrs. W. Snelbold of Fort Worth, Texas; Mrs. Devlin, Miss Isabel MacMillan, Mrs. Laura Cooper, Mrs. Lillian Law, Miss Thompson, Mrs. Lois Young, Miss Isabel MacMillan and Mrs. J. Blake.

"Alert Women" Order of Day

Women must be on the alert to see that they get representation on the peace conference and on boards dealing with the affairs of their nation. Gladys Herrington, governor of District No. 11 of Quota International, told the Edmonton Quota club Wednesday night.

Mrs. Herrington was guest-of-honor at a club dinner in the Corona hotel and addressed members on the aims of the club.

"Quota is an international club for business and professional women devoted to girls' service work and to friendship and the promotion of a high standard of business ethics," she said.

ALL CANADIAN

District No. 11, which includes nine clubs in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is the only all Canadian district in the organization. Mrs. Herrington said, and the clubs must work hard to make a good showing.

The 1945 district conference will be held next Thanksgiving in Red Deer, she announced.

The speaker outlined a proposed district project of a $200 Social Welfare scholarship to be awarded to a girl each year. The scholarship would cover fees for a one-year social service course at the University of British Columbia or the University of Manitoba. Decision on the project will be made at the district conference this year.

Quota was founded in the United States in 1919 Mrs. Herrington said, and became international in 1926 with the organization of a club in Winnipeg. In 1932 the movement spread to Australia where it has become very strong, she said.

GOODWILL

The international organization does much to encourage bonds of goodwill, the governor said, and one international project to which all the clubs contribute is a scholarship for a Latin-American girl to a university in the United States.

Mrs. Herrington has just completed a tour of her district and she expressed enthusiastic interest at all points. She left Wednesday night to return to her home in Saskatoon.

Visiting Coeds Expect Indians

"We want to see some Indians!" exclaimed Jean Smith and June Sprague, pretty co-eds from the Connecticut State Teachers' College at New Haven as they arrived in Edmonton Wednesday afternoon after a week's trip across Canada. The two girls are visiting the University of Alberta campus for six weeks as part of the exchange plan arranged by the Canadian American Committee on International Relations.

Miss Smith and Miss Sprague were met at the station by R. B. Streper, American consul, and his daughter, Mary, Dr. Mary Winspear, Dean of Women, Miss Joan Virtue and Lawrence Fisher, who are on the executive of the Education Club at the University of Alberta.

EVENTFUL TRIP

The two American co-eds reported an eventful trip across Canada including a short visit to Montreal, a stop-over in Winnipeg where they stayed at government house and one night in Calgary where they attended the Ice Carnival. They were fascinated about every phase of their trip. While in Canada they want to take part in all winter sports and came prepared with skis, skis and a great deal of heavy clothing. "When Mother heard where we were going she immediately began collecting woolen clothes," laughed Jean.

Both girls took the fur hats in Montreal and the abundance of mail in Canada. They were amazed when they heard that shoes are not rationed and expressed the opinion that clothing in the whole of Canada is cheaper than in the United States. Canadian trains, they found were not nearly so crowded as those across the border.

When questioned about Canadian people and their opinions of the University of Alberta, they reply

SHE IS ALWAYS READY FOR HER MEALS

Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins.

But vitamins alone are not enough. For authorities now agree that vitamins do not work alone. They work at a team with certain other food elements.

For this reason, thousands are switching to Ovaltine. Unlike mere "vitamin carriers," Ovaltine food beverage contains not only extra vitamins but nearly all the previous food elements needed for health and top vitality. These include Vitamins A, B<sub>1</sub> and D, the important minerals calcium, phosphorus and iron, high quality proteins and quick energy fuel-food—a combination of food elements authorities agree are needed for best results.

So, if your child is thin, nervous and not developing properly, why not turn to Ovaltine as thousands are doing. Three normal meals plus two glasses of Ovaltine a day give your child all the extra amount of vitamins and minerals needed for health and top vitality.
